Tenure Statute Repeal Sent to Badger Senate; Vote Is 49 to 44

Assembly Refuses to Reconsider Passage Last Week

NEW BILL DUE

Compromise Plan Intended to Eliminate Objections to Old Act

Madison — (P) — The James bill, repealing the teachers' tenure law, cleared through one branch of the legislature today when the assembly refused, 49 to 44, to reconsider the vote by which it passed the measure last week. It was messaged to the senate.

The author, Glenn James (R), Montfort, and other supporters of the repealer contended the tenure principle adopted in 1937 was unsatisfactory because it did not require a probationary period for teachers who had already served in a school system for five years. Paul Alfonsi (P) Pence, announced he would sponsor a compromise bill, meeting objections to the old law. Floor discussion indicated representatives of small communities favored complete abolition, while spokesmen of larger communities favored a modified law.

Kill Insurance Bill
The assembly changed its mind and killed the Schlyster bill prohibiting municipalities and school districts from insuring property under the state fire fund. The bill has had a story career. It was voted 46 to 39 still left the way open for reconsideration. It was first introduced Feb. 23 and again on April 10.

Assemblyman Budlong (R) Marinette, contended the insurance business "belongs to local men" and that the state should not interfere with private enterprise. Assemblyman Catlin (R) Appleton, declared state insurance furnished "the rankiest kind of competition."

Three Progressives, Harvey of Racine, Blumfield of Milwaukee and Alfonsi of Pence, urged defeat of the bill, contending municipalities should be permitted to obtain insurance where they saw fit.

Pass Other Bills
The assembly passed bills: Enabling municipalities to set up uniform motorcycle licensing regulations. Establishing assessed value as the basis for apportioning taxes of school districts lying in more than one county. Allowing municipalities of more than 10,000 population to establish civil service for public employees. Exempting private motor carriers of farm machinery from transportation taxes.

New Assembly Bills:
Transfer the consumers credit division from the banking commission to the secretary of state. The division licenses and regulates loan associations, finance companies, motor vehicle dealers and salesmen, collection agencies and small loan firms. The bill contemplates no personnel changes.

Provide free distribution of insulin by the board of health to diabetic sufferers unable to buy it.

State Senate Gives Unanimous Approval
To Pflugradt for Job

Madison — (P) — The senate unanimously confirmed today the appointment of Allen G. Pflugradt, Milwaukee, as a member of the state banking commission to carry out Governor Heil's program for a "clean-up" of the banking and loan situation in Milwaukee county. He succeeds Peter A. Cleary, Milwaukee.

Associations which had objected to the appointment in the fear of possible federalization of state chartered institutions reconciled their objections after recent conferences and all senate opposition to Pflugradt disappeared.

Senators Peters (R) Hartford, Rush (P) Neillville, and Nelson (P) Maple, who had asked time to inquire into protests from their communities said they were satisfied the appointment was a good one.

Nelson praised Pflugradt as an outstanding executive.

Unfortunately, we can't all be blessed with an over developed "gift of gab" or perhaps we just haven't the time to go about selling prospective tenants on the advisability of making out vacant rooms their future abode. FILES SUIT

New York — (P) — John Barrymore (above), actor, sued his wife, Elaine Barrie, today for a separation and for an accounting of more than $200,000 of their funds, in a state supreme court action which also named his mother-in-law, Miss Barrie, 23 years younger than the veteran actor, left his touring company in St. Louis last Saturday to seek a divorce. Barrymore is on tour in the west. The suit was filed here in his behalf by counsel.

Ask $10,000,000 Annual Increase In Pension Funds

Two Milwaukee Solons
Propose Amendment to State Budget Bill

Madison — (P) — Two Milwaukee Republicans, Senator Bernard Gettelman and Assemblyman Charles Westphal, today proposed an amendment to the state budget bill for a $10,000,000 annual increase in the allotment for old age pensions. They would boost the appropriation for state aid to counties from $1,750,000 to $11,750,000 a year, leaving it up to the legislature to determine how the necessary revenue should be provided.

Action on the budget, scheduled in the assembly tomorrow at the request of Assemblyman Frank Graess (R) Sturgeon Bay, a member of the finance committee and may be further delayed until next week. Graess said numerous amendments were being drawn up in addition to those already offered.

In joint statement Gettelman and Westphal declared the legislature should "keep faith with the people" on promises made during the last campaign for adequate old age pensions.

Yesterday the Madison chapter of the American Old Age Pension League voted to stage seven weekly marches around the capitol, beginning next Tuesday.

Send More Police To Mine District

Man Beaten When He Tries to Report for Work in Kentucky

Harlan, Ky. — (P) — State police rushed reinforcements to a trouble spot in the Harlan county coal field today after a miner was beaten as he tried to report for work at a pitted mine.

Captain Earl Norman, in charge of state patrolmen here, said "the situation looks serious." Norman said E. L. Lamarr, Negro miner, was taken from his automobile and beaten near the Clover Fork Coal company's mine at Kitts, two miles north of here. The windows of the car were smashed and Lamarr was cut by glass, the officer reported when he returned here to order all available highway patrolmen to the Clover Fork property.

Four patrolmen had been stationed at the mine through the night. Norman said a group of picketers, he estimated at 500 jeered at miners who reported at the mine commissary but did not try to enter the workings.

The automobile of a second miner was stopped and its windshield smashed but he was not harmed. Ordering 20-odd additional patrolmen to the Clover Fork property, Norman said "it looks like the hot spot in Harlan county right now."

WPA Probers are Sent Back to Pennsylvania

Washington — (P) — The house committee investigating the WPA suddenly cancelled a hearing scheduled for today and sent its investigators back into Pennsylvania to develop further information on certain phases of the relief set up there.

J. O'Connor Roberts, committee counsel, said the committee originally intended to hear testimony today from the investigators concerning WPA construction and administrative matters in Pittsburgh, Harrisburg, Wilkes-Barre and Philadelphia.

The tantalizing odors of barbecued ribs browning in the pan, international goulash simmering on the stove, pumpkin doughnuts frying, and cheese pastry, banana tea cake and spice prune cake baking gave a real kitchen-like atmosphere to the Rio theater this morning as the second session of the Post-Crescent cooking school got under way.

Miss Mary Ann Kidd, the lecturer and demonstrator, and her assistant, Miss Eloise Anderson, in their crisp wash frocks, went about the business of presenting a delicious menu for the day which kept the audience in eager anticipation, and when the finished products were displayed there was no doubt in the minds of any of the women that the lessons they are getting are practical and actually produce results.

Pork shanks were cooked in preparation for serving them with sauerkraut, and a barbecue sauce was made to go with the ribs. Peas and carrots were prepared in the oven together with candied sweet potatoes to demonstrate every bit of oven space a woman can use. Miss Kidd made a banana tea bread which was golden brown and toothsome looking as it was taken from the oven, and she cut up half of a spice prune cake in order to treat the delivery men from Johnston's Shoe Repairers and the Badger Pantry. Luncheon rolls were made by spreading fresh bread with cheese filling, rolling up the slices and wrapping them with bacon slices, then broiling them under the broiler, and the cheese pastry was used for tart shells.

Promising the women a Mothers' day party for tomorrow's session, Miss Kidd gave a few hints about the program, and H. L. Davis, Jr., master of ceremonies for the cooking school, suggested that the women bring their mothers tomorrow as there will be many features of the session of special interest to them.

A half-hour concert of organ music was given by Mrs. Harold Feron today, preceding the opening of the session, and again the school closed along with no unnecessary waits or long intermissions so that school was out at 11:15, proving that the management's

Fight Southern Stand on Rates

New England, New Jersey and Middle West
Join in Plea

Washington — (P) — New England, Great Lakes states and New Jersey urged the interstate commerce commission today to disregard the south's contention that the present freight rate structure discriminates against it.

The states of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin, joined in one brief filed with the ICC. The New England governor's freight rate committee filed another, while a third was filed by the state of New Jersey, the New Jersey Board of Commerce and Navigation, the South Jersey Port Commission, and the New Jersey State Commerce commission.

All briefs called for exception to a proposed report recently by Commissioner William E. Lee and Examiner Michael Cochran, who for the most part upheld the south's allegations. The report recommended that the railroads voluntarily work out a revision of freight rates from the south into the north in order to remove alleged discrimination against the south. The south is asking that freight rates from the south into the north be placed on the same basis as rates from the north into the north, which are lower than the rates from the south into the north.

The brief filed by the states of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin said these states "desire for themselves no preference nor undue advantage in such rates, but they object to the recommendations of the proposed report, which, if adopted, will impose upon the citizens undue and serious prejudice and serious disadvantage."

Bill Would Abolish State Planning Board

Madison — (P) — The legislative joint finance committee introduced today a bill to abolish the state planning board and two other measures which dovetail with the administration's reorganization program.

The planning board, as now constituted, was established during former Governor LaFollette's second term in 1933. Its executive officer is Martin W. Torkelson, Governor Heil, by statute, is chairman of the board but has been criticized in public statements. Staves close to the governor said he regarded the board's work as too costly for results obtained. With Torkelson as active head, it is composed of representatives of various state departments, the University of Wisconsin and private citizens. The board has an appropriation of $65,000 from highway funds.

Doctor Forced To Cut Bullet From Gunman

Uses Razor Blade to Remove Pellet From
Wounded Man's Back

ONE MAN IS SLAIN

Two Policemen Wounded
During Gunfight in Chicago Tavern

Chicago — (P) — Pals of a gunman critically wounded in a tavern holdup forced a physician at pistol point today to remove a bullet from the robber's back with a razor blade.

Alex Ferguson, 57, a patron of the tavern, at 4623 N. Western avenue, was killed and two policemen, Edwin McIntyre, 42, and Philip Kelly, 35, were wounded during the gun battle.

Dr. Siegmund Hirschfeld notified police he was summoned from his home, driven to an apartment and compelled to extract a bullet from near the base of the spine of the young man. When the bullet was removed, he said, the wounded man snatched it from the doctor's hand and said:

"I'm going to send it back to that guy that shot me and see how he likes it."

The physician said the wounded man drew a pistol and kept him covered while the other man and a woman packed their clothes and apparently loaded the grips in an automobile. They helped the wounded man dress and left the apartment after warning the physician not to summon police for at least 15 minutes.

Description Tallies
As the wounded man walked across the living room he collapsed and had to be helped down the stairs.

Dr. Hirschfeld's description of the men tallied exactly with that supplied by witnesses of the tavern fracas.

Police investigation showed the wounded man and the woman used the name Mr. and Mrs. A. Wilson in renting the apartment and that the companion was known as Edward Riley.

Riley checked out of his hotel hurriedly about 10 minutes before police arrived and left a Pekinese dog with a friend, who is janitor of an apartment building.

Riley told the janitor he was going to Milwaukee for a few days, but told the hotel clerk he was en route to LaCrosse to work for a fountain pen concern.

Fingerprints showed the two men were former convicts who served in the Jackson, Mich., prison, police said.

Called by Phone

The physician said he was summoned by telephone by the manager of a nearby drugstore, and that he was driven to the apartment by a light complexioned man who had told the druggist his wife was seriously ill.

The tavern holdup occurred shortly before midnight. McIntyre, his wife, and Kelly were sitting at the bar when the gunmen entered. Both policemen, who were off duty at the time, drew their guns and fired when the robbers announced "this is a stickup."

Ferguson was mortally wounded by the robbers' first shots. McIntyre suffered a head wound as he emptied his pistol at the gunmen and Kelly was hit in the abdomen, shoulder and wrist. The robbers escaped in a car.

Philadelphia Doctor

Murder Ring Suspect
Philadelphia — (P) — Detectives arrested a Philadelphia physician today on a charge of accessory to murder in a recent seaboard ring that killed to collect insurance.

The warrant named him as Dr. Horace D. Perlman. Police Captain James Kelly said all the doctor's medicines and office records had been seized for checking against information given police by Morris Bolber, held as one of the leaders in the ring. He surrendered Monday and has been charged with murder.

Kelly earlier described a scheme of the ring's "master minds" to kill not only men on whom they could collect insurance but also widows who could be witnesses.

Senate Favors Bill to Permit
Deduction of U. S. Estate Tax
Payments in Fixing State Levy
Madison — (P) — The senate advanced today passage by engrossment today a bill allowing deduction of federal inheritance and estate tax payments in determining the market value of property subject to state levy.

An effort by Senator Bolens (D) Port Washington, the author, to place it on final passage last after Senator Kresky (P) Green Bay, asked time to allow the tax commission to estimate what loss in state revenue might result.

Bolens said the present state law, passed before adoption of the federal inheritance and estate tax, allowed imposition of taxes on legacies never received. All surrounding states make provision for a deduction, he added.

"This bill attempts to restore Wisconsin to the rank of the honest states around us," he asserted. "Wisconsin is advertised as a state which doesn't want wealth or industrial investments. It is an undesirable situation which the bill would remove."

Neutrality Act Proposals Only Reply to Reich

President Abandons Idea
Of 'Fireside Chat'
Answering Hitler

HULL MAPS VIEWS

Secretary to Outline Administration's Position on Question

Washington — (P) — Administration recommendations for a new "cash and carry" neutrality law will constitute President Roosevelt's only reply to Adolf Hitler's rechristening speech, authoritative quarters said today.

After some discussion among federal officials, it was learned, the president gave up the idea of making a "fireside chat" or issuing a statement in rebuttal.

Secretary Hull, however, was preparing an outline of administration views on American neutrality to be made before the senate foreign relations committee next Monday or Tuesday.

Reliable sources said Hull would support the basis of the Pittman neutrality bill, which would extend the "cash and carry" principle so as to cover sale of arms and munitions to warring nations.

Would Answer Hitler
This would be in the nature of a reply to Hitler, officials explained, because it would make American arms available to Great Britain and France, who presumably would control the seas in a European war and who would have the necessary cash to pay for supplies. At present arms shipments are automatically forbidden the moment the president invokes the neutrality law.

The "cash and carry" provision, which embraces only articles to be enumerated by the president, expired at midnight Monday. Senator Pittman (D-Nev.) would reinstate this section, as the foundation of his bill.

Secretary Hull will suggest, however, some modifications which would give the president a little more discretion than the Pittman bill allows.

The senate received assurances yesterday from its Democratic leader, Senator Barkley, Kentucky, that he does not expect congress to adjourn until the neutrality question is disposed of, along with the issues of tax revision and railroad rehabilitation.

Neutrality legislation, he said, "ought to be enacted before there is a war and not after war begins."

Arranges Confabs in Move to End Dispute

Everett, Mass. — (P) — In an effort to prevent repetition of a waterfront clash between striking seamen and police which resulted in use of tear gas, Governor Leverett Saltonstall arranged conferences of disputants with the state conciliation board today while the union postponed picketing to await determination of its rights.

The area in which yesterday's clash occurred — near an oil refinery just across the Mystic river from Boston — was patrolled today by Everett police, by officers from four nearby cities and towns and by the state-controlled metropolitan district police, some of whom were armed with shotguns.

Meanwhile, officials of the national maritime union, which seeks wage increases and preferential hiring from four oil companies operating tankers on the Atlantic seaboard, watched the developing situation from Boston headquarters, where 150 gas masks were reported ready for use by pickets.

Moscow — (P) — Tass (official Soviet news agency) today announced Maxim Litvinov, the Soviet union's veteran foreign affairs commissar, had been "released" from his post.

Hitler Moves for Neutral Bloc in Northern Europe

Britain Ready to Consider Proposals From Germany

SPURNS SOVIET PLAN

Opposes British-French-Russian Guarantee To Baltic States

London — (P) — The foreign secretaries of Britain, France and Soviet Russia were reported reliably tonight to have arranged to meet at Geneva May 15 in an effort to complete their projected alliance.

The League of Nations council is meeting there then, and it was stated authoritatively that Maxim Litvinov of Russia, Georges Bonnet of France, and Viscount Halifax of Britain had agreed to take the opportunity for negotiations to end the present deadlock over the extent of the alliance.

London — (P) — Prime Minister Chamberlain told the house of commons today that "the British government would certainly be ready to consider proposals for the exchange of reciprocal assurances with the German government."

Denying that there were any grounds for charges that the British government had adopted a policy of "encircling Germany," Chamberlain said:

"What President Roosevelt proposed (in his April 14 peace appeal) and Herr Hitler stressed (in his April 22 speech) was an exchange of assurances of non-aggression rather than a guarantee on a reciprocal basis, such as was recently given by the British government to Poland."

"The British government are certainly ready to consider proposals for the exchange of reciprocal assurances with the German government."

Chamberlain smiled and his answer was inaudible when he was asked by opposition laborite Arthur Henderson:

Rejects Proposal
"May I ask whether, in view of the importance of the statement which the prime minister has just made, the British government will take proper steps to secure that this statement is brought to the notice of the government?"

Meanwhile, the British cabinet was reported reliably to have rejected Soviet Russia's proposal for a British-French-Russian guarantee to all Baltic and Black sea states.

It was reported, however, that the cabinet decided to urge the soviet government to "reinsure" British-French commitments to Poland and Rumania.

A cabinet was said to have taken this decision after Poland told Great Britain she preferred to make a separate agreement with Russia.

Defense Bill Is Given Approval

Roosevelt Signs Measure
Providing for 'Critical' Items

Washington — (P) — President Roosevelt signed a bill today providing $133,000,000 immediately in appropriations and contract authorizations for "critical" defense items for the army, seacoast defenses and fleet expansion.

The house naval committee recommended, meanwhile, legislation to authorize expenditure of $6,660,000 for complete modernization of five battleships. The ships involved are the Tennessee, California, Colorado, Maryland and West Virginia.

The bill signed by the president will let the army buy and contract for $110,000,000 of tanks, anti-tank guns, semi-automatic rifles, gas masks, anti-aircraft guns, artillery and ammunition.

The navy's ship construction program gets $36,500,000, while $6,660,000 is included in appropriations and contract authorizations for seacoast defenses of the continental United States, Panama Canal Zone and insular possessions.

Relatively small sums to meet unforeseen expenses of additional government agencies brought the total of appropriations in the bill, up to $182,919,000, while contract authorizations aggregated $46,801,000.

Rumania Sends Offer To U. S. on War Debt

Washington — (P) — Rumania presented the United States with a formal note today offering settlement of its war debt of about $64,000,000 to the American government.

Rumanian Minister Radu Tracus presented the note from his government to Secretary Hull. He discussed the matter with the secretary for a half-hour.

The state and treasury departments will study the offer to determine what recommendations should be made to congress in regard to it. President Roosevelt probably will send the note to congress in due course with his comments.

DEFENDS CANAL

Brigadier General Edmund L. Daley (above) has been placed in command of the war department's new first line of defense for the Panama canal in the Caribbean sea. Under control of the new department will be the islands of Puerto Rico and Virgin Islands.

Republicans Hit At Reorganization Plan of President

Roosevelt Busy Mapping
Out Additional Recommendations

Washington — (P) — President Roosevelt took steps today to complete additional plans for reorganizing the government's administrative machinery as house Democrats expected confidently to defeat a Republican attack on his first reorganization proposal.

The president called Budget Director Smith and members of his special reorganization committee to a White House luncheon conference. The new plans, which will cover various shifts of federal agencies, will be sent to congress soon.

Whether the house would get to a showdown this evening on the first plan depended on the working out of an agreement to limit debate to five instead of ten hours.

Fights Roosevelt Plan
At issue was a resolution of Representative Taber (D-N. Y.) to disapprove Mr. Roosevelt's proposed consolidation of federal works, welfare and lending agencies into three new units. Under the reorganization act, such a presidential plan would take effect in 60 days unless disapproved by both houses of congress.

To consider the reorganization measure, the house shelved until later in the week a bill to delay temporary camps deportable aliens whose countries would not accept them.

The senate recessed until Thursday after passing yesterday a bill setting up new requirements for trust indentures which was designed to tighten existing securities laws.

The house ways and means committee reached a tentative agreement to pare down the 3 per cent tax for unemployment compensation payments under the social security act.

Starting a Republican bombardment of President Roosevelt's initial plan for reorganizing the government, Representative Taber told the house today it would neither promote efficiency in the government nor reduce expenses.

Assembly Votes to Open Trout Season
May 13 in Wisconsin

Madison — (P) — The assembly voted today to give Wisconsin trout fishermen a break by opening the season Saturday, May 13, instead of Monday, May 15, the usual date.

Assemblyman Catlin (R) Appleton, author of a bill rushed to the senate under suspension of the rules today to give the laboring man an equal chance with others by opening the season over the weekend. Vote on the bill was 71 to 12.

Assemblymen Daugs (D) Ft. Atkinson, and Graess (R) Sturgeon Bay, opposed it on the ground that conservation department regulations already had been distributed and changing the date might result in conflicts.

Lake trout fishing, on which there is a year around season, is not affected. The trout season opened May 1 in four counties, Douglas, Ashland, Bayfield and Iron.

Offers Identical Non-Aggression Pacts to 6 Nations

STUDY REPLIES

Scandinavian Countries
May Submit Common
Answer to Reich

Copenhagen, Denmark — (P) — The foreign ministers of four Scandinavian countries discussed a common answer to Germany's effort to erect a neutral bloc of northern European states in a series of telephone conversations today.

One usually reliable source said the foreign ministers of Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Finland had intended to meet in Stockholm tomorrow but found difficulty in assembling so rapidly and decided to substitute the telephone talks on the sudden German offer of non-aggression pacts to them.

There was still a possibility of a face-to-face meeting before an answer to Germany is dispatched. The Danish foreign minister was engaged in the telephone conversations for three full hours during the day.

Berlin — (P) — Chancellor Hitler today sought to form a neutral bloc of at least six nations extending across northern Europe.

He offered identical non-aggression pacts to Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Finland, made similar approaches to Latvia and Estonia and there were strong reasons to believe that proposals of like nature had been submitted to a number of other European countries.

Lithuania was not included in the reichsuehrer's projected northern combination because her relations with Germany are regulated by a separate treaty which contains non-aggression pledges.

The government agreed to proposals of the Swedish and Finnish governments for fortification of the southern group of the Aland islands but attached a condition of neutrality by Sweden and Finland in the event of possible warlike entanglements involving the "Baltic sea area." The Aland islands dominate the entrance to Bothnia gulf, northern extension of the Baltic.

Would Isolate Poland
One object of this diplomatic activity is to isolate Poland. Hitler already has assured that Hungary has fast her lot with Germany, even to the extent of forsaking a historic friendship with Poland, as a consequence of the Berlin visit of the Hungarian premier and foreign minister last week.

Another objective of the present maneuver is to prevent further "encirclement," as the Germans call the British-French system of alliances. The chief object is said to be to show that naziz government is animated only by peaceful intentions.

Identical notes offering non-aggression pacts were delivered to the ministers of the four Scandinavian countries, it was said, and the envoys immediately forwarded the notes to their governments.

Hitler apparently had determined to give the world proof of his desire for peace.

(A Berlin dispatch to Helsingfors said Germany had proposed Finland commit herself to strict neutrality in event of war in the Baltic in exchange for German approval of the island fortifications.)

Expect Joint Relief
Scandinavian diplomatic quarters in Berlin took it for granted the foreign ministers of Denmark, Finland, Norway and Sweden would meet soon to formulate a joint reply to the proposal of non-aggression pacts.

The chances for success of Hitler's move could not yet be foretold. Generally speaking, as one experienced diplomat pointed out, any small nation is glad to have her inviolability guaranteed by a formidable neighbor.

For small nations there is a big question, however, namely, the aversion to obligations of a nature which would severely restrict their independence of action 1. even the big nation guarantor became involved with third powers.

Polish Stand Rapped
At the same time the German propaganda machine emphasized to Warsaw that suggestions in the Polish press there of a "Polish protectorate" over Danzig were regarded in Berlin as "insane."

Signs which appear when Germany has diplomatic irons in the fire turned up in profusion in the press, which prepared the public for whatever the Polish foreign minister, Joseph Beck, may have to say when he addresses parliament Friday.

Newspapers were laden with editorials on "phantasies about Danzig," and the general effect was an attempt to show that Poland intended to seek something she had no right to and that London and Paris were backing her.

Heil in Battle With Tax Board Over Legal Help

Progressives Charge Governor With "Sabotaging" Commission

BY JOHN W. WYNGAARD
Madison—A complicated tale of intramural politics and a controversy upon which hinges indirectly about $2,000,000 in taxes for the state treasury was being unraveled in the capitol today.

Principals are the state tax commission, currently dominated by Progressive hold-overs from the LaFollette administration, and the Heil Republican administration, and the public for the Progressive party which has begun to hammer away at the doings of the new majority party after months of silence following the November election.

A few days ago Progressive party organs broke into print with lengthy, sensationalized charges that Governor Heil was engaged in "sabotaging" the work of the tax commission in attempting to collect corporate income tax assessments from business corporations in Wisconsin and elsewhere.

One of the cases before the tax commission, Progressive accusers declared, was that of the Heil company of Milwaukee, of which the governor is still head.

The "sabotaging" effort, the charge continued, took the form of the governor's refusal to allow the tax commission adequate legal personnel to prosecute the delinquent income taxpayers.

The facts of the situation, as summarized down by an independent investigation, today were shown to be these:

The tax commission today has slightly more income tax appeals from corporations on its calendar than it has normally, probably, as the governor explained, because businesses are more likely to fight tax assessments in times of depression than in times of prosperity.

At present there are about 164 appeals pending, involving nearly $2,000,000. Last year there were 150 appeals at the same time.

Since 1930 the commission's counsel to represent the state before it in controversies with corporations in tax matters has been John Best. Last summer Best resigned for a more lucrative private position.

Recently the commission chose Herman Knoeller of Milwaukee to take charge of the legal work in the corporation tax division on a 30 day temporary basis, without a civil service examination. The commission then asked the governor's office to approve a special examination for the job, which Knoeller was employed to write, or approve his employment as a special counsel, without civil service qualifications, for the income tax work.

No Extra Help
Governor Heil refused both requests, and told the tax commission to get along with its present staff, which consisted of a lawyer-accountant who was put in temporary charge of the work after Best's resignation.

A part of the Republican campaign last fall, the administration explained, consisted of a pledge to eliminate expensive special lawyers retained by the Progressive administration.

Mr. Knoeller, it was said, is a friend of Herbert Mount, Progressive member of the tax commission appointed by LaFollette last year, and is himself a Progressive.

Moreover, the tax commission for years has operated adequately without addition of new lawyers to its staff, administration sources continued.

Routine Work
So routine has been the commission lawyer's task that "for years past it has been the custom to employ a young lawyer as counsel at a salary in the neighborhood of $200 per month, and to advance him to a maximum of $5,000 per year over a period of five years. The last commission counsel, John Best, was taken directly from law school in the summer of 1930," this administration spokesman went on.

Thus, it was explained, the governor's office felt that the commission's new counsel should either be obtained by promotion of one of the present members of the staff, or from the waiting list of lawyers already qualified by examination in the files of the bureau of personnel.

Survey Shows Boost In Home Construction

Chicago—(AP)—New one and two family dwellings started during the first 1939 quarter in the lake area of Indiana, Iowa, eastern Wisconsin and northern Illinois will house 2-700 families, according to findings of a survey reported today.

T. O. Morgan, Chicago manager of home owners' catalogs, a division of F. W. Dodge Corporation, who made the survey, said this construction required $8,000,000 more for labor and material than did similar building during the like 1938 period.

Construction this year, Morgan said, will use labor and material worth $17,109,000 compared with $9,076,000 a year ago, which provided shelter for 1,265 families.

Commerce Group Speakers Demand U. S. Tax Relief

Washington—(AP)—United States Chamber of Commerce officials emphasized today their demands for tax relief as speaker after speaker at the annual meeting blamed New Deal policies for the failure of capital to flow freely into industry.

President George H. Davis outlined in a prepared speech seven objectives of the chamber:

"1. Remove tax deterrents which discourage investment in both established and new enterprises.

"2. Abandon unwise public spending policy.

"3. Modify laws relating to the issuing and marketing of private securities.

"4. Discontinue government competition in private enterprises.

"5. Abandon monetary manipulations and modify the policy of artificially cheap money.

"6. Modify banking laws to permit greater freedom of private initiative in underwriting security issues.

"7. Discontinue unnecessary investigations which create apprehension and impose needless burdens upon industry and trade."

Robert M. Hanes of Winston-Salem, N. C., first vice president of the American Bankers' association, declared existing private and public credit facilities ample to meet the demands of the nation.

"Venturesome capital needs to be encouraged to risk investment in enterprise," he said.

M. J. Cleary, president of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company of Milwaukee, Wis., urged the business men to be alert and active lets "foreignisms" take root in this country and contaminate or destroy a system "that has brought more hope, happiness and opportunity to succeeding generations than any other plan so far conceived."

BOARD PRESIDENT ILL

charged that the commission not only wanted a Progressive friend chosen, but that it wanted to pay him $35 a day, or $7500 a year, at least $2500 more than it had paid its previous counsel.

Tax commission sources, however, maintain that a specially qualified lawyer is needed to handle the commission's corporation income tax work to succeed Best, who was exceptionally qualified because of his dual legal and accounting background, it is said.

Thus the commission, consisting of Herbert Mount of Milwaukee, friend of Phil LaFollette, and prominent in the councils of the LaFollette Progressive party, Henry Gunderson, former Progressive lieutenant governor, and W. J. Conway, whose political connections are now remote, and its director, John Thiel, a former member of the Progressive state central committee, today had reached an impasse with the head of the state government, Julius P. Heil, also titular head of the Republican party in Wisconsin.

RIOTING BREAKS OUT IN STRIKE OF SEAMEN

Rioting, which caused Police Chief George O. Kenney, of Everett, Mass., to request "all cities and towns" in the state to send "men and equipment immediately" broke out in the week-old seamen's strike. Pickets and onlookers are shown dashing for fresh air as tear gas bombs exploded in their midst. Police (at right) had thrown the tear gas to disperse the gathering. The disturbance lasted 15 minutes.

Classon Named to Weyauwega Office

Appointed City Attorney; Jenny to Head Sewage Plant Project

Weyauwega—G. T. Classon was appointed city attorney and D. W. Jenny superintendent of construction on the city sewage disposal plant by the city council at its meeting this week.

Plans for the construction of the sewage plant, a WPA project, have been completed and work will start soon. The plant will be built on the north bank of the Waupaca river east of the dam. The land was formerly owned by the Weyauwega Milling company.

The council acted to take over supervision of recreational activities during the summer months after discussing the program with two members of the board of education, F. O. Prentice and A. C. Ewald. An instructor will be hired.

The council voted the Weyauwega High school band $250 for expenses involved in presenting weekly concerts during the summer months.

Skim Milk Suits May Come But They're Expensive Now

Editor's Note: Government scientists are going to hunt new ways to turn things like cotton and corn and potatoes into things like steering wheels and airplane and clove-like early "chemurgy" has been coined to describe such work. But Uncle Sam's scientists prefer to call it "chemistry's hunt for new factory markets for the farm." Whatever it is, it is twentieth century magic. This is the last of three articles telling how Uncle Sam's dabbling in it.

BY JACK THOMPSON
Washington—(AP)—Come the chemical revolution, men will wear suits produced from milk and see through eyeglass lenses made from corn plastic.

They'll fly airplanes cast from oat-hulls, write letters on cotton paper, run automobiles on cheap corn alcohol, instead of gasoline—and the factories will swamp the farm with orders for raw materials.

That's the pattern of the future as the chemurgists see it, and they're willing to bet their last test tube it comes true.

The skeptics are inclined to scoff. But to chemurgy's evangelist, William J. Hale, the future is assured for a science that has already given the world rayon, cellophane, soybean paint and plastics, and a long list of factory products made from farm crops.

Hale, research consultant for a big chemical company, goes even further. Since the early 1930's he has been spreading the doctrine that "The chemical revolution is here. It predicts the time is near when alcohol made from farm products can be mixed half and half with water and still out-perform gasoline as a motor fuel."

He says a half billion dollar industry that would employ 3,000,000 men directly and indirectly, could be set up now to ferment farm products for industrial use.

Uncle Sam's more conservative scientists agree that alcohol produced from corn, wheat, potatoes or any of a half dozen other crops can be blended with gasoline to perform efficiently in modern gasoline engines. The plan to study further possibilities in the government laboratories being established to ferret out new markets for farm products.

Germany, France and Italy use various forms of synthetic motor fuel either as a part of their national defense measures or to stimulate agricultural production.

Milk-made wool has progressed to the patent stage. Two department of agriculture scientists have developed a process for making synthetic wool from the curd of chemically soured skim milk.

It looks much like natural wool, will take all kinds of dyes, and can be cut to convenient lengths for the loom and mixed with real wool.

But no one in the U. S. is making money on corn-alcohol for auto fuel or milk-wool for clothing.

Four Major Drawbacks
To the skeptics that illustrates the first of four major drawbacks they think will delay the age of chemurgy. Those obstacles are:

1. The cost of production is too high.

Although Uncle Sam's patents on milk-made wool are open to private promoters no one is putting out the product commercially.

Farm alcohol is also too high-priced, say department of agriculture scientists, to compete with straight gasoline.

2. Farm market prices fluctuate too much from year to year.

For example, a profitably factory making soybean products folded up during a single season of high farm prices.

A new synthetic fiber to compete with silk hosiery could be made

Seek Unified Law For Valley Firm

Would Consolidate Scattered Provisions for Maintaining Reservoirs

Madison—(AP)—Three officers of the Wisconsin Valley Improvement company, which maintains a system of water reservoirs in the Wisconsin river, yesterday favored legislative codification of six laws relating to the company in a bill before the senate judiciary committee.

Fred W. Genrich, secretary and treasurer; W. F. Brooks, general manager; and W. Kyler, engineer, all of Wausau, urged passage of a bill by Senator Otto Mueller (R.) Wausau, covering the original 1907 statute and amendments passed in 1909, 1915, twice in 1933, and 1935.

Genrich told the committee the Mueller bill sought to return to the company the right of eminent domain taken away from it by the 1935 amendment. Otherwise, he said, the bill merely tied into one chapter scattered provisions.

The Wisconsin Valley Improvement company is a private corporation created by the state to construct, acquire, and maintain a system of water reservoirs in the Wisconsin river and its tributaries for the purpose of producing a uniform flow of water and thereby improve navigation.

Today and Tomorrow

BY WALTER LIPPMAN

The American Position Now

Though there is still a fair chance that the European war can be postponed and even avoided, there does not appear to be anything the President can do at the present moment to influence the outcome. Europe has reached a point where the kind of general peace conference, which is proposed, is not now feasible. It would require a degree of reciprocal demobilization, both physical and moral, that is not possible in the present state of Europe.

In the axis an acceptance of the President's proposal, and all that it implies, would mean not only a renunciation of a large part of its ambitions but the probability that, if the tension were suddenly relaxed, the axis itself would disintegrate and the profound, but suppressed, popular longing for peace would be released. In the alliance the point has been reached for the three principal members, namely Britain, France and Poland, where they are bound to feel that if they do not hang together, they will in the end hang separately.

Poland To Supply Axis, Alliance Test

In the immediate future, therefore, a general settlement would seem to be ruled out until the relative strength of the axis and the alliance has been put to the test. Apparently the test is to be made over Poland, not over Danzig and the highway across the Corridor, but over Poland itself. For while Danzig and the highway are the occasion, it was not until Poland joined the France-Britain alliance that Hitler made Danzig and the Corridor a great issue in Europe. In 1934 he signed a treaty which postponed for at least ten years the raising of the German claims on Poland. If those claims are now made a prime objective, it can be only because they are a promising means of breaking up the British guarantees in eastern Europe, and of neutralizing or even subjugating Poland.

This in turn makes a settlement of the Danzig and the highway questions extremely difficult. If the Poles make no concessions, they may have to fight on an issue where their moral position is not good, and their guarantees from Britain and France by no means absolutely dependable. On the other hand, if they give in to Hitler, they may lose much more than the German city of Danzig and a highway fifteen miles wide. They may render themselves defenseless and they may dissolve their alliances. After the surrender of the Sudetenland the Czechoslovak nation was unable to exist as an independent state. A surrender at Danzig and the dismemberment of the Corridor might very well have the same consequences for the Polish state.

U. S. Intervention Might Be Serious

The situation is delicate and dangerous, and on the outcome may well depend the most vital interests of all the European powers. It is a question not only of war or peace but of national independence and survival. For that reason the situation is one in which those who have everything at stake must make their own decisions on their own responsibility. It is not a situation in which a distant nation that is not involved can intervene unless it is asked to do so by all the states that are involved. For at this point an uninvited intervention on the part of the United States would not only be fruitless but it might be seriously misleading.

The President has, therefore, been well advised not to retort to Hitler's speech. His appeal for a general settlement has been rejected. If he entered into an argument with Hitler over that rejection, the President would place himself in a false position. He would be regarded as a participant in the European balance of power rather than as the intermediary for peace, which is all that he has authority to be.

President Must Talk For A United People

The best chance of a useful contribution by this country to world peace can come now only after this immediate crisis, the testing of the coalition on the Polish question, has been resolved. In the meantime, the President would do well to take seriously what he has so grievously neglected, his duty as leader of the nation to promote the national unity by consulting with and conciliating his political opponents.

There may still come an opportunity to exert the influence of the United States in a supreme effort to avert the immeasurable catastrophe of a world war. But if and when that opportunity comes, the effectiveness of the action on behalf of peace will depend on how successfully the President is able to speak for a united people.

Council Votes to Purchase Car for City Police Use

Used Machine Will be Obtained With $165 Now in Budget

New London — The purchase of a police car for the New London police department was authorized by the common council at its regular meeting at the city hall last night.

Under consideration by the council and police and fire commissions for years, the question was settled last night with the decision to buy a second hand car not to exceed $165, a sum now reserved in the commission's budget for such a purpose.

The immediate purchase of a used car was voted in favor of delaying the purchase until 1940 when provision for a new car will be included in the budget. Alderman William Lutz headed the movement for the new machine, supported by Harry Evans who afterwards agreed with the adopted plan. Alderman A. B. Mardoff pleaded for a used car immediately, pointing out that the arrest of several drunken drivers alone would repay the cost of the car and that without it the police were handicapped in making arrests.

Hire Park Supervisor
Sidney Freeman was hired by ballot from among seven applicants for the new job of supervisor of city parks. Competitors were John Viol, caretaker last year, Wallace Shurland, Adria Klatt, Jack Jeffers, Clifford Freymuth and Fred Kurzmann. The balloting was between Freeman and Viol, the former receiving the choice 6 to 4.

The aldermen voted to join the town of Lebanon in a petition to the Waupaca county board of supervisors to include in the county road system the quarter-mile strip of border road on the north city limits between County Trunk D and United States Highway 45. At present the township and city each own half and maintenance of the strip is a problem.

County aid will be sought to widen and resurface Dorset street with blacktop, otherwise the city street department was instructed to rip it up and oil it to handle the heavy traffic imposed by the rerouting of traffic during the S. Pearl street bridge construction.

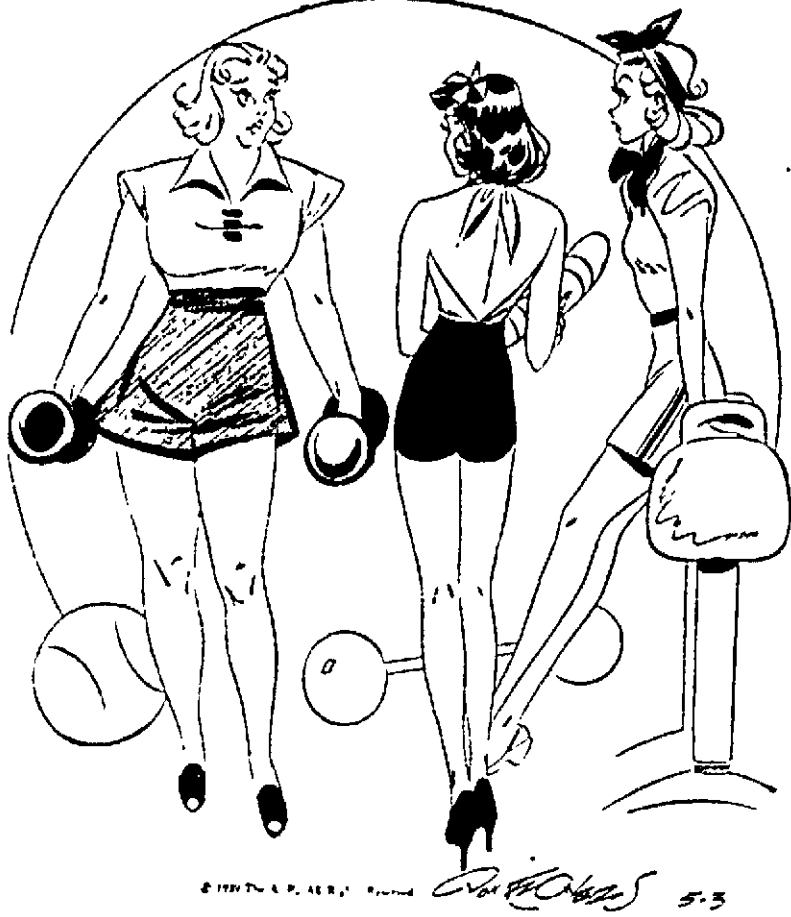

Street Oiling
Street oiling will be done again this year only on petition of residents and the city clerk was instructed to advertise that such petitions be on file by May 16. Residents who petition for oiling will be assessed for the cost.

Mayor E. W. Wendlandt reported the approval of the third ward sewer project by state health and W. P. A. authorities and announced that all rights of way for the installation have been secured but one and arrangements will be completed for that this week. Steps then will be taken to get the work started as soon as possible. The council also formally approved the contract for rural fire protection with five neighboring townships which the fire department is promoting and which was informally accepted Monday night.

A new ordinance to limit the cost of residences in any part of the city to 500 per cent of the assessed valuation of the lot, and in no case less than $500, was held over to the next meeting for consideration. William Lutz recommended some limitations be made as to the erection of tin or tar paper shacks but opposed the specific restrictions of the proposed ordinance as unfair. Other aldermen were undecided as to the merits of the ordinance.

Approve Concerts
A petition from the retail trades division of the chamber of commerce to permit the series of summer high school band concerts to be conducted in the business sections of the city, alternately on the north and south sides, was granted. The business men will make all necessary arrangements under the new plan.

A set of new American flags for city decoration on patriotic days was ordered purchased at a cost of approximately $160.

The report of Police Justice Fred J. Rogers of $85 in city fines for the month of April was accepted. A bill for $150 submitted by Chief of Police Harry D. Macklin for cash paid towards the purchase of a city police motorcycle in 1934 was allowed.

Businessmen are Cool About 'Fool's Gold' of War Profits

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER
Washington—Businessmen appear to be more thoroughly inoculated against war fever than they were a few years ago. During the Manchurian crisis in 1931, when our government was trying to interest the British in stopping Japan, it happened to be cruising among industrial centers interviewing businessmen about the depression. Time and again they would refer to the ominous Manchurian situation and say, "Maybe a war wouldn't be such a bad thing because at least it would help business."

A few days ago I was talking with a newspaper publisher from a small town in the middle west. His chief industry is a chemical plant. He said conditions were improving but that the danger of war in Europe was holding everything back. I asked if a war wouldn't help the chemical business in his town. He was doubtful. Suppose the plant did turn itself over to war orders. Taxes would go up and the government would take all the profits. He said he would rather have domestic recovery.

That change of attitude is reflected in the resistance to war talk in Washington that is heard at the Raymond Clapper annual convention of the United States Chamber of Commerce and in resolutions being adopted by local business groups such as the Ohio State Chamber of Commerce. James S. Kemper, vice president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, told the convention here that the vast majority of Americans don't want this country to get into another war. "I believe," he said, "the country will maintain that position in spite of the insidious propaganda that is operating in the opposite direction."

They Know War Isn't What It Used to Be
In his Chautauqua speech in 1936, Roosevelt spoke warningly of war profits, terming them "fool's gold." That phrase has not been forgotten. More than that, businessmen know now that war isn't what it used to be. It means an entire nation must mobilize and submit to the regimentation of a dictatorial government. Britain and France are not at war, but the fear of it has driven France into a temporary dictatorship and in England controls over industry have been rapidly increased to put industry at the bidding of the government's needs. Taxes go up. Nobody dreams that the United States would, in an emergency, escape similar measures. In short, war has now become almost as unattractive to the businessmen who would become the munition makers as it is to the soldier who must do the fighting.

Certainly so long as this administration remains in power, the business community is likely to keep up its resistance to any moves that seem to take us in the direction of danger. Under a more friendly administration, business might be more trustful. But only a strong emotional pull, overcoming other interests, would be likely to cause a change in sentiment. The chances are that the business community, at least, will take a hard-headed view of international alarms and the fate of democracy and limit its enthusiasm to matters of national self-interest.

Proper Flow of Goods Would Prevent Trouble
The general attitude of business men was summarized in an address by Thomas Watson, president of the International Chamber of Commerce, who said that with a proper flow of goods both ways across international borders there would be no soldiers marching.

Watson said that modern war is so destructive that nothing would come out of it except complete economic collapse for the whole world. As measures to prevent war he urged further reduction of trade barriers, access to raw materials for all countries and international currency stabilization, all this to be followed by reduction of armaments. He reflected the increasing disposition of business men to view war, not as a means of obtaining trade, but rather as a calamity certain to bring destruction not only to the participants but to world economy in general.

Never before have business men in this country appeared to be so conscious of the seamy side of war as they are today at this convention of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

GREECE-U. S. LINE READY
After nearly four years' effort the government of Greece is to have a steamship service to the United States. It has contracted with a Greek shipping concern to operate a direct line between Piraeus, Greece, and New York for 10 years. The shipowners must make at least eight round trips a year. They will receive from the government a subsidy of $100,000 a year if they cannot make the service profitable. Since the middle of 1935, when the National Steamship Navigation company of Greece went into liquidation, the Greek government has invited proposals for such a line four times, but the subsidy question always blocked negotiations.

Health and Physical Well-Being of Lawrence Students Taken Care of by Well-Trained Staffs

Because healthy bodies are necessary for active minds, Lawrence college pays particular attention to the physical fitness of its students. Sports of all kinds are encouraged for men and women. At upper left two young men are shown in a swimming pool, one of the popular sports at the school, and at upper right is a picture of Adolf Dillon, swimming coach and director of freshman sports. At lower left Mrs. Peter Giovanni, director of girls' physical education program, is shown watching her charges at play, and at lower right four girls are checking their archery scores on the target range. They are, left to right, Pat Garvey, Chicago; Abby Southerland, Fond du Lac; Betty Gallup, Elmhurst, Illinois; and Jane Gilbert, Glen Ellyn, Illinois.

This article, No. 24 in the series describing Lawrence college, is the second of two discussing physical education and sports at the school. The first article discussed inter-collegiate competition, and this one deals with inter-mural activities.

BY VIOLA HELLERMANN

Possessing the finest small college physical education plant in the midwest, Lawrence maintains an unusually comprehensive intramural program. It reaches more than 90 per cent of the boys in college, records showing that only 25 out of the approximately 300 men students are not participating in some sport this year.

Women students are also encouraged to participate in athletics, and the Women's Athletic association promotes interest in a wide variety of recreational activities, among them field hockey, volleyball, basketball, swimming, tennis, archery, fencing, bowling, golf, horseback riding and badminton.

Although the men's physical education department realizes the popular appeal of intercollegiate competition, it does not let that part of the program become too heavy. The important thing, the college feels, is not to build husky athletes for public contests but to give all its students an interest in some sport or sports that will give them recreation the rest of their lives.

For that reason the instructors devote as careful attention to a group of four boys learning handball as they do to the star athletes who excel at football and basketball and track.

Alumni Use Gym
That the program is bearing fruit is evidenced by the fact that on an average of 50 men, graduates of Lawrence college who are now employed in business and the professions in Appleton and the vicinity, come to Alexander gymnasium one evening each week to play the games they learned in school.

Another fair test of the program, A. C. Denney, chairman of the department of physical education at Lawrence since 1923, believes, is the extensive participation in the intramural program. Freshmen and sophomores are required to participate in physical education, but juniors and seniors take part in the intramural program of their own volition.

Intramural competition takes place between the six fraternities, whose large membership includes most of the men students, between the various divisions of Brooks hall, men's dormitory, and also between all-college teams. The program includes touch football, basketball, swimming, track, boxing, wrestling, tennis, golf, volleyball, squash, handball and bowling.

One of the finest Alexander gymnasium, built in 1929, is one of the finest in the land. Patrons of basketball games know that the main floor holds three regulation size basketball courts, but many townspeople are unaware that the huge building also contains an indoor tennis court, two volleyball courts, two badminton courts, one boxing ring, one wrestling ring, one boxing room and equipment, one golf room for driving, an indoor dirt running track, a jumping and vaulting pit, locker room, training room, equipment rooms, three office rooms, four class rooms, regulation 4-wall handball courts, regulation 4-wall squash courts and a swimming pool, 75 by 30 feet, with high and low diving boards.

The gymnasium is kept immaculately clean. The locker room is scrubbed every day, and the equipment supplies all wearing equipment, with the exception of shoes, and sees to it that it is kept clean.

The "L" club, organization of men who have won their letters in sports, is furnishing one of the smaller rooms at the gymnasium so that it will be a comfortable lounge where returning alumni can chat and reminisce before or after a game. There are cases filled with trophies and plaques won by the college in intercollegiate competition and the walls are covered with photographs of teams and stars of the past years. One of the oldest is a picture of the football team of '94. One of the young men in the group is John Herbert Farley, now professor of philosophy at the college.

Outdoor facilities include a football field, a football practice field, one quarter-mile track with 220-yard straightaway, vaulting, high jumping and broad jumping pits, adequate facilities for weight events and the recently completed tennis courts.

Health Examinations
Since every student entering Lawrence is required to take a health examination and may be re-called for reexamination at any time if his condition is doubtful, there is little chance that a student's physical ability will be overtaxed.

Students with seriously defective conditions are required to enroll in a special activities course, where they remain until removed by the health service department of the college. Students without defects may elect any of the other courses offered. Courses offered vary with the seasons so that students may participate in such indoor activities as handball, volleyball and basketball during the winter and such outdoor activities as golf, tennis and track in the spring.

The intramural program for girls is organized under two divisions, all-college competition and inter-collegiate competition, and throughout the year, the hours from 4 to 6 o'clock each afternoon are devoted to recreational activities and tournament play.

Girls whose individual achievement and contribution to the effectiveness of their teams has been outstanding are elected to honorary all-college varsity teams in the major sports, and girls who have shown ability above the average are elected to honorary freshmen, sophomore, junior or senior class varsity teams.

Trophies Awarded

A silver or bronze trophy is presented each year to the senior girl who has attained particular distinction in athletic activities, scholastic work and other campus activities.

A number of trophies and plaques add to the keenness of the competition in most of the intramural events.

Members of the physical education department faculty believe wholeheartedly in the college's policy of discouraging over-emphasis while encouraging participation for the pure enjoyment of playing.

On the faculty, in addition to Mr. Denney, who is chairman of the department and basketball and track captain, are Bernie Heslton, instructor and football and wrestling coach; Adolf Dillon, instructor and coach of swimming and freshman sports; and Mrs. Peter Giovanni, director of girls' physical education.

Mrs. Giovanni is here this semester to replace Miss Ruth McGurk, who resigned to take a new position. Mrs. Giovanni attended Lawrence college and the University of Wisconsin and was in charge of physical education successively at Rosary college, Wilson Junior High school and Appleton Senior High school before her recent marriage.

Most of the women's indoor sporting activities take place in the old, or little gymnasium, where the Women's Athletic association also has its club rooms.

Ireland is launching an extensive reforestation campaign.

Medical Auxiliary Has Meet at Clintonville

Clintonville—The Waupaca-Shawano County Medical Society auxiliary met for a 1 o'clock luncheon Tuesday at Hotel Marson. Mrs. Roger Cantwell of Shawano, president of the group, was in charge of the meeting. The speaker was the state president, Mrs. R. E. Fitzgerald of Wauwatosa, who talked on the promotion of hygiene and on the Biemiller bill on socialized medicine now pending in the Wisconsin legislature. Mrs. Irving Auld of this city gave a book review on

Old Age Pension Costs Increasing in County

Waupaca — Costs of old age assistance to the county are mounting rapidly, 25 additional cases being added during the month. Also during the month six deaths were reported and one was dropped from the rolls—making an addition of 18 cases which brings the amount to $15,957.50. Four burials in this department totalled $340.

The 181 cases of dependent children's aid, an increase of one, amount to $5,630 and medical bills for 14 children totalled $242.65. The 18 blind pensioners received $408.

"The Triumph Over Pain," by Rene Fulop Miller, in which the author traces the advances made in the use of anesthesia. Eighteen auxiliary members were present from New London, Manawa, Waupaca, Marion, Shawano and Clintonville.

A special meeting of the library board was held at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of considering the beautification of the library grounds. Stanley Warner, local civil engineer, met with the board.

The average interest rate on all farm mortgages dropped from approximately 6 per cent in 1929 to 5.25 per cent in 1937.

SEEING IS BELIEVING!

AMERICAN AIRLINES PILOT
GIVES A DEMONSTRATION...

SMOKERS...everywhere...are comparing cigarettes by just watching them burn! At the right, O. J. Brown, pilot for American Airlines, shows how one leading cigarette, compared to others, burns much slower! It's a C-A-M-E-L! Camels win in this comparison by a wide margin. The reason: Costlier tobaccos...carefully blended...in a cigarette made to burn slowly, completely and smoke cool, mild!

Recently, a group of scientists made this interesting laboratory test on a bigger scale. 16 of the largest-selling cigarette brands were tested impartially. CAMELS BURNED SLOWER THAN ANY OTHER BRAND TESTED—25% SLOWER THAN THE AVERAGE TIME FOR THE OTHER BRANDS. (Camels were remarkably consistent. Cigarettes of some brands smoked twice as fast as others right from the same pack.) IN THE SAME TEST, CAMELS HELD THEIR ASH FAR LONGER THAN THE AVERAGE TIME FOR ALL OTHER BRANDS.

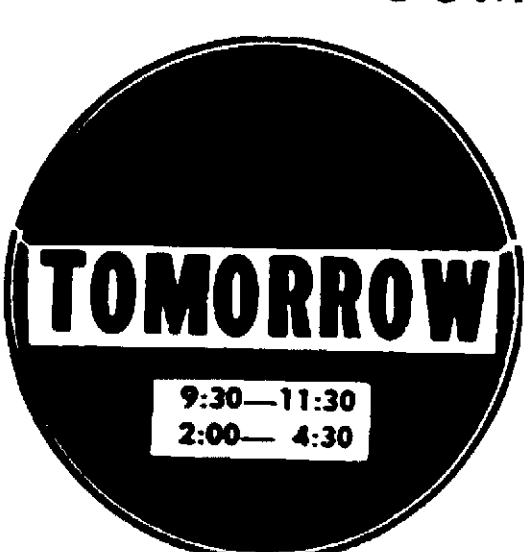

Camel is the cigarette of costlier tobaccos...cool, mellower, more appealing in taste, always so uniformly delightful!

"There it is again," veteran pilot O. J. Brown exclaims to a group of friends, "...the Camel is burning slower than the other cigarette. To me, that's a perfect explanation of why Camels smoke so cool and mild. It must have a lot to do with the delicate, pleasing taste of Camels, too!"

SMOKING IS BELIEVING!

Camel's slower burning (compared to the average time of the 15 other brands tested) gives you the equivalent of 5 extra smokes per pack! You economize while enjoying smoking pleasure at its best!

TRY Camels for a really thrilling smoking experience...fragrance, ripe taste, mildness! Camels give everything you want in a smoke...including ECONOMY!

Camels have more tobacco by weight than the average of the 15 other brands tested. Besides, Camels burn slower than any of those other brands. And by burning 25% slower than the average of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands, Camels give you the equivalent of 5 extra smokes per pack!

Camels give you even more for your money when you count in Camel's finer, more expensive tobaccos. Buy shrewdly! Buy Camels...America's first choice for a luxury smoke every smoker can afford!

Should Have Reached Bid Of 4 Spades

BY ELY CULBERTSON
"Dear Mr. Culbertson: Being just the wife in this case, and not nearly as good a bridge player (in his estimation) as my husband, I would like your opinion on the following hand which came up at duplicate bridge last evening. I was playing South with my husband, North. Our side was vulnerable.

North-South vulnerable.

NORTH	EAST
♠ 7 5 3	♠ A Q J

"The bidding (match point duplicate):
East South West North
Pass 1 spade Pass 3 clubs
Pass 5 diamonds Pass 5 no trump
Pass 6 hearts Pass 6 no trump
Double Pass Pass Pass
We use the Blackwood convention and of course my five diamond bid showed one ace and my six heart bid (in response to the five no trump bid) showed two kings. Needless to say, we went down one trick at six no trump and were lucky that it wasn't more. If the spade honors had not been so fortunately placed for us, it would have been a real debacle.

"The argument is this: My husband insists that my rebid, after his forcing three clubs, should have been three no trump, even with a void, to show that I had opened on a minimum. My contention is that with a void, a minimum honor count, and a rebiddable suit, my bid was three spades. Even with the adverse distribution, the hand still makes game in spades. Without a fit in my bid suit, I believe he should have signed off with three no trump, or made some other bid whereby I could have put in a slam try if my hand had been really strong. I dislike very much to swallow my pride in this particular instance, because I do not feel that I did wrong. However, we will abide by your decision. Mrs. G. C. M., Wisconsin."

My correspondent should most certainly not swallow her pride in this instance, nor should she swallow the absurd criticism emanating from her so-called better half. Not only was North's bidding 100 per cent atrocious, but his comments on South's responses were, if possible, worse. South's bidding was correct throughout. Holding a seven card spade suit, it was out of the question that he bid anything but three spades in response to three clubs. Three no trump (North's suggestion) would have been one of the worst bids ever heard on land or sea. Apparently, it is North's contention that the opening bidder must make artificial rebids to indicate his honor trick holding—whether minimum or better than minimum. This does not conform to the practice of all leading players. They feel, logically enough, that if a player has a sound opening bid, his rebids should show his distribution whenever possible.

North's bidding left a great deal to be desired. His three club force was extremely questionable and his terrible subsequent bidding, which landed the partnership in a horrible slam contract, was beyond the pale. Four spades was the correct final contract.

Good Taste Today

SEATING GUESTS
Dear Mrs. Post: At a dinner for two hundred, to celebrate a silver wedding anniversary, would the guests be seated with place cards at the small tables?

Answer: I think most people find themselves more at ease if they have a definite place to go to, but it would not be easy to seat as many as two hundred. In other words, it is entirely correct to seat all the tables and on the other hand all right just to seat your own table, which includes yourselves and the original bride and party and any others whom you would like especially to have with you.

Passing Salt, Etc., at Table
Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please explain to me the proper procedure for passing a salt cellar to someone? Should the salt cellar be handed to him or merely set on the table in front of him?

Beauty and You

1—FLORENCE MCGUIRE demonstrates the faulty posture in celebration of Camp National Posture Week.
2—JERRY HARDING sitting in correct posture for typing. Note her ease and grace.

If you would have a pretty figure and facial beauty, look to your posture! And not only when you are standing and walking, but while you work sitting down.

Office girls particularly should check up on their positions while they type or work at a desk. For poor posture during working hours leads to ill health and certainly rob a girl of her beauty.

When you realize that you are sitting at least half of your waking hours it becomes pretty important that you learn how to sit correctly. Good sitting posture, once mastered, will do wonders in keeping you healthy and keeping your body beautiful.

First see if your table or desk is the proper height for the chair you sit in. If it is too low, get a lower one. Or if it is too high, use a pillow in your chair or get a taller chair.

Many spine ailments come from working at a desk or table which is not the proper height for you, and aches across the shoulder blades and at the base of the neck. Be sure also you have room to put your knees under the desk. Note the forced faulty position of the girl who cannot put her knees under her table. Then note the erect, attractive position of the other girl who is able to sit properly at her table which is the correct height for her.

Slow Child Should be Given Less Instead of More Work

BY ANGELO PATRI

"Mrs. can Nollie come out to play?"
"No, I'm sorry, but Nollie didn't do his work in school today so he has to stay in now and do it."
"Oh, All right."
The small boy turned away from the door and walked sedately to the gate, dashed through and yelled, "Nope. She won't let him come. She's making him do his school lessons."
"Gee!"
"Yeah. That's what she said."
"Gee! He hasn't been out this whole spring. Not once even. I'd run away if my mother did that to me. You can bet I wouldn't stay in like that."
"Yeah. But my mother wouldn't make me stay in. She'd make me do my lessons, but she wouldn't make me stay in all the time. No wonder he's so dopey and skinny. You know what? I'm going to get him out. Wait for me here."
The small boy went around the house and stood under a window and whistled. Another small boy looked down at him. "Come on out. You can catch up with your hit the ground. Come on."
The small boy at the window shook his head. No light show in his eyes, no eagerness shook his dull tones. "No, I don't want to go out. I'd rather stay in."
Incredulity kept the small boy standing under the window silent. He tried again when he got his breath back. "Nope. I'd rather stay in," said the dull voice. The window closed and the astonished little boy below it went back to the lot. "Nope. He doesn't want to come out. He says so his own self."
"No wonder he's such a dope. Come on. Play ball."
Nollie was slow in school. When the teacher gave the class ten examples he had only three finished when the bell rang. "You take them home and do them and five more beside," said the teacher. "You've got to learn to work."
When the teacher dictated twenty words to the class Nollie had four written, correctly. "You take the list home and you write every word ten times and you take ten extra ones for not finishing in time. You've got to learn to speed up and get your work done."
By the end of the day Nollie had piled up enough back work to keep an ordinary child busy for several days, and he was not the ordinary boy. He was a rather helpless, slow child who needed extra care, special attention and much encouragement. The teacher mistakenly punished him with extra work and his mother, mistakenly, tried to help by insisting that this work be done.

Writing words ten times does not teach a child to spell. It teaches him to be careless about penmanship and to disregard the form of words. Doing extra work does not brighten a slow child's mind, but dulls it. Instead of giving such a child more work he should be given less. Keeping him to do school work instead of sending him out to play does not help brighten him. It increases the cause for his dullness and makes him worse all the way round. He needs a shorter school day, a curtailed assignment, plenty of free play in the open, and much, much encouragement. His will is not at fault. His condition is responsible, not he.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

The Home Gardener

By Edwin H. Perkins

Spring rains and warm nights have brought out the weeds to bother us. When they are small and the roots not yet large and well established, their removal is easy. Start among the flowers in the established beds, working over the soil with a hoe. All young weeds can be turned under by this method and the plentiful supply of water placed in the soil by heavy showers is thus retained. Keeping the garden soil properly moist is not so much a matter of using the hose as it is a matter of using the hoe. Every spare minute from now on, when the soil is not too wet, can be used in cultivating. It is an activity which plays big dividends.

Weeds probably cause more worry than anything else connected with the lawn. The best way to get big ones out is with a dull knife or a number of special tools available for lawn weeding. These tools, used like the dull knife, are designed to pry the weed, root and all, right out of the soil. Breaking a weed's roots generally strengthens the roots so that additional crops are produced.

If a lawn is properly made, it is well fed and made water retentive with humus, and the mower is kept going, the grass will grow so vigorously that weeds are literally starved to death. Do not and do not let the lawn be completely eradicated from lawns by several years' close cutting at intervals not too far apart. These like most other weeds, are annual. If they are kept cut before seeding is accomplished, they cannot reproduce and consequently die off.

CASE RECORDS OF A PSYCHOLOGIST
By Dr. George W. Crane
Psychologist, Northwestern University

Melba probably feels that I was somewhat callous in her case, but she has permitted her excessive desire to cloud her view of objective facts. Our sympathy for a student should not influence our impartial allotment of grades. Grades are often swayed by silk hosiery and feminine tears, but that is not an evidence of strict justice.

CASE N-127: Melba O., aged 19, is one of my psychology students. "I don't see why I didn't get a better grade for the semester," she protested.

"I have been trying to win a scholarship, and I needed an 'A' in to credit for the course. In fact, we permit only a limited number of hours of 'D' work to apply toward a diploma.

As a rule I award a grade of 'A' to the top 10 per cent. The next 25 per cent obtain 'B', while the following 40 per cent win a 'C'. Below this middle group fall the 'D' students who make up approximately 20 per cent, and the bottom 5 per cent obtain an 'E'.

In order to win an 'A', therefore, the student must simply compete with his classmates so that he falls within the upper 10 per cent. We don't ask the student to come up to an arbitrary standard of perfection before we award him an 'A' grade. He need not get 150 correct out of 150.

The New Grade Curve
On my examination the highest score was 117. Had the top score been only 75 on that same quiz of 150 points, the student would also have received an 'A', although 75 is only 50 per cent of the total possible number of points on my final examination.

In modern times, therefore, we let the students compete with themselves to determine grades. We award 'A' grades in every course. When I was in college, however, one of my history professors refused to give any student an 'A' because he maintained that nobody could be perfect, and he erroneously reserved an 'A' for perfection.

Naturally, I was sorry to see Melba drop to a 'B' rating, if it meant her loss of a scholarship, but my sympathy does not effect my allotment of grades. She competed on the same basis as the other students and came in 21st. As in a horse race, we allow the prizes on the basis of how they actually cross the finish line.

This may seem callous, but it is just, and justice is not to be coerced by sympathy.

(Dr. Crane will give personal attention to inquiries on psychological problems. Write him in care of this newspaper, enclosing a 3-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply. Letters and readers' names are never published.)

OLD HOME WEEK MURDER

by Phoebe Atwood Taylor

THE CHARACTERS
Asey Mayne, Cape Cod sleuth.
Kay Brinley, girl reporter.

Yesterday, Brinley claims he was looking for his dog's license tag in the pond. He has found out about the murder.

Chapter 29
'Keep Him In Hand'
"If you want your murderer," yelled Brinley, "go for Mike Slade! Don't you?"

"Did you write this note, tellin' him to get out an' stay out?" asked Asey.

"I did—that's my writing, but I see here, just what are you tryin' to do?"

"Arthur blustered for ten minutes, without seeming to stop for breath. Asey made no effort to curtail the flood of words. Instead he walked over to the ice-house door and looked out at the rain which continued to drive down in torrents.

Kay had commented on the bright blueness of the water when they first came, but now the pond and the sky above were nearly black. Lightning jagged down in brilliant flashes, and the thunder was almost continuous.

"Quite a tempest," he said to Kay, who had come over beside him.

"Asey, he may not be a fiend, but I'm beginning to wonder if he's quite the fool I thought. What about this doing tag business?"

"Easy enough to check on." "If only he hadn't been hunting Fido's tag—how flimsy that is! Don't you suppose he was after the shotgun? He was prodding pretty hard. I bet he wanted to make sure it was still safely there. By the way, where up in the can get at it inside of three hours. Asey assured her. "One nice thing about havin' pull with the company, you get locks that don't pick so easy."

"Now, Mayo, I want you to pay some attention to what I'm sayin'!"

"When," Asey said, "you can't send to answer the questions I asked you, I'll pay so much attention you'll be flattered by it."

Brinley stomped off.

"You really think he guessed?" Kay asked, "About the murder, I mean?"

"I wouldn't know. I thought we had him pretty well convinced last night that it was all Slade's nonsense."

"Slade!" Brinley overheard the name, "Slade! There's your man, Slade and that Warren girl. Two people on earth who have the most to gain from Mary Randall's death. And what do you do? You— you park in bushes with young girls, malingering around while justice waits! You—"

"Poor justice," Asey said, "certainly is takin' an awful likin' from the folks in this town."

"You," Brinley was thundering, "you call yourself a detective, you do! First you carry on with that woman," he pointed to Madame Meaux, "and then you take young girls—"

Discovery
"Toots," Madame Meaux said calmly, "shut your face and pin it up tight."

"Don't you talk to me, I—"

"Toots," Madame Meaux said, "I told you to shut up. You shut up. Or maybe you'd like me to stage a little act for the benefit of your wife?"

"What—a you wouldn't dare!"

"Oh, toots, wouldn't I? Keep in mind, Arthur, that you play ball with Asey, or very shortly your wife will find you in what is known as a compromising position with her star boarder, see?"

"You—what do you mean?"

"It would be so simple," Madame Meaux said, "to make a pass at you just as she comes in the room. And mind, too, you're the one that does the explaining. Not me. I've got a contract. I get paid no matter what happens. No moral turpitude clause in my contract. And I'm going to stay right through to the bitter end. But if you force me—well, I'm sure that dear old Mr. Leach would believe me if I said I was leaving because of your undesirable attentions. And Mr. May's cousin told me when I came that I was to march straight to him with any complaints. He meant Pinky Upjohn and the boys, but you'll do. Asey, if the rain's letting up, how's for taking me home along with you two? I don't trust myself with Casanova here."

"Oh, you can't!" Brinley was on the verge of tears. "You've got to drive home with me! My wife would ask questions—she knows you started out with me!"

"And I'll tell her plenty, toots." Brinley collapsed and never uttered a word until half an hour later, when the rain abruptly stopped.

"Okay, toots," Madame Meaux relented. "You can take me home, but just keep in front of your mind just what'll happen if you don't behave. Okay, Asey?"

"Fine," Asey said. "Keep him in hand for me. I'll see you later, Brinley, an' you better be thinkin' up a lot of nice explanations, because considerable checkins' goin' to be done on you. So long—where's your car, on the east road? Bye."

Kay's teeth were chattering as she

And why, after all, when you come down to brass tacks, should you want to interfere with your Mother's choice in literature? Perhaps it isn't his hobby or improving, but he gets fun and interest out of it. If he can thrill over a super-crim and wade through buckets of blood, isn't it a harmless diversion and an innocent way of spending an evening? Besides, you needn't be so snooty about detective stories. According to report some of our most eminent minds find relaxation in pursuing them and take a good stiff murder story for a nightcap every night.

The only genuine, blown-in-the-bottle recipe for married happiness is to live and let live. As long as a husband and wife do not interfere with each other's personal tastes and habits, they are safe.

Dear Miss Dix—What is a woman to do with a husband who is still a mama's boy; who is still tied to Mother's apron string and lets her baby him and treat him as if he were 5 years old, and who puts Mother before his wife in everything he does?
A. E. S.

Answer:
Nothing can be done about it. The mother complex is incurable and a woman who is married to a man who has it must either leave him or reconcile herself to always playing second fiddle to Mother.

Knickerbocker Makes Pegler Wish He'd Been a Yale Man

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—You can talk about beautiful love stories like Romeo and Juliet or Gable and Lombard, but, to my taste, the sweetest story ever told is contained in a magazine advertisement written by Cholly Knickerbocker, the society columnist, from the true life romance of George X. McLanahan, a Yale man, and the former Miss Sally Clark, the glamorous society belle of the Boston four hundred, whose sister married young Johnny Roosevelt. The story is illustrated with photographs by Jerome Zerbe, the society photographer of the exclusive New York night club and cafe circles.

Boy, oh, boy! Gee whiz! It certainly does make you wish you had the acquaintance of a glamorous and refined belle of exclusive Boston society, although maybe it is just a matter of the individual and not Yale. I mean probably Mr. McLanahan just happens to be the one man in all this world, and it might have been the same if he had gone to Penn State or Colorado School of Mines. Although, somehow, Yale seems more appropriate.

The advertisement is called "The inside story of a front page romance," and the first picture shows the carefree young couple sitting by a tennis court.

"Spring in Nassau," says the text under the picture, "Sally was on a visit with friends. George on his spring holiday from Yale. They met at the British colonial courts. He asked her to dance that night at the Bahamian club."

The next picture shows the glamorous Miss Clark, as she was then, in a negligee, flashing the radiance of her smile and holding a cake of soap in one hand. She has just washed her refined young face, and, man, it is something to make your pulses pound in your veins.

Makes You Feel Like Mr. McLanahan Himself "Five o'clock," says the writing under this picture, "No time for an elaborate toilette. (Bath—Ed.) A. Woodbury. (That is the name of the soap—Ed.) Facial cocktail just the thing before, her complexion, so weary a while before, is radiant again."

In the next scene they are dancing in an exclusive society haunt, and the writing says:—"Something clicked. His eyes devour the smooth curve of her cheek, the velvety cream of her skin. But what, he wonders, is her feeling for him? Of this he is sure—her charm is captivating."

Mr. Knickerbocker just about drives you crazy, making you feel almost as though you were Mr. McLanahan himself, holding this modest, elusive, tantalizing figure of elfin loveliness in your own arms. And Mr. McLanahan is generous enough to assist in the illusion by posing in the photograph. Hold 'er, Yale!

Eyes Shine With Love And Yale Education Well, the next picture shows them back in New York, and she is singing into a sort of gas pipe in an ultra-exclusive society haunt where only the most expensive whiskey, gin, wine and cigars are sold and

Shawn Conquered Illness to Become a Proficient Athlete

TED SHAWN, internationally famous dancer and leader of the troupe which will appear at Memorial chapel next Monday night, fought the effects of a serious siege of diphtheria and resulting paralysis to become a marvelous physical specimen and great athlete.

In his third year at the University of Denver, he was stricken with diphtheria and was paralyzed from the hips down for months. It was during this long convalescence that he became interested in the dance as a means of building up his wasted body and as a medium of self expression.

Shawn was born in Kansas City, Mo., the son of a Kansas City Star editor. He took his schooling at Kansas City and at University of Denver.

Recovering from his illness, he established a school of dancing in Los Angeles in 1912, touring from coast to coast with his concert group two years later. He met Ruth St. Dennis, became her dancing partner, and the two were married. Together they established Denishawn Dancers, the first American ballet.

At the outbreak of the World war, Shawn volunteered as a private — later was sent to an officers training camp and was commissioned as a lieutenant in infantry. After his discharge, he resumed his career as a dancer.

Six years ago he formed an all-male company. The young men who form the present troupe come from all parts of the United States. They are all college men and athletes.

The foods committee is headed by Alice Keller. Her co-workers are Miss Wood, Walter Lillge, Fred Heinrich, Rosella Grieshaber, Jim Germanson, Elaine Carlson and Billy Baker. Misses Elsie Mueller and Ruth Becker, Latin instructors, are sponsors to the group.

Barrie's Story of Peter Pan Is Brought to Life as Major Players Perform for Children

JAMES M. BARRIE'S whimsical story of "Peter Pan," replete with Indians, pirates and fairies, came to life Tuesday afternoon on the stage of Lawrence Memorial chapel, and the hundreds of children who packed the chapel to see the play loved every line of it.

Their response when Peter Pan, as played by Leslie Gorall, made a direct appeal to them to save the fairy Tinker Bell's life was spontaneous and unanimous. Tinker Bell, as readers of the familiar story will remember, drinks the poison intended for Peter Pan, and the only thing that will save her life is the assurance that children still believe in fairies.

Peter Pan turned to the youngsters who made up the large audience and made an eloquent plea that they save the fairy's life. "Clap your hands if you believe in fairies," he begged, and the children immediately began a thunderous clapping. Their faces beamed when the light which represented the fairy stopped flickering and shone clearly again.

Presented by the Clare Tree Major players, "Peter Pan" was the last of the series of children's plays presented here this season under the auspices of the Edison Parent Teachers' association.

Plays Title Role
Leslie Gorall, who played the title role, did an excellent piece of work as the boy who ran away from home the day he was born because he wanted to be a boy forever and not the great man his parents planned. Incredibly light on his feet, he seemed to be all over the stage at once, jumping nimbly from door to door, from floor to chair, over the window sill and back again. He was also the fortunate possessor of a voice that carried to the back row of the chapel, even above the cheers of his lively young audience, without sounding strained.

Jewel Morse, who has endeared herself to boys and girls throughout the country through her roles as Alice in "Alice in Wonderland," Betty in "Under the Lilacs," and others, was a charming Wendy in the play yesterday.

High points of the performance, as gauged by the onlookers, were the capering of Nana, the Darling family's dog, who acted as an all-familiar to the group.

most human nursemaid to the three Darling children; the pillow fight between the Lost Boys while Wendy was telling them a story; and the duel between Peter Pan and Captain Hook, the pirate chief. Nana, the dog, incidentally, was played by Edwin Hugh in dog costume, and he won the children's hearts as completely as if he had been a real pet.

Dramatic Moments
From the time Peter Pan comes into the bedroom of the three Darling children looking for his shadow and takes them with him to the Never-Never land of pirates, friendly Indians and fairies, until the return of the three children to their parents, the play presented all of the dramatic moments of the famous story.

The fact that the story was familiar to so many of the youngsters probably accounted for their enthusiastic reception of it. Several times they were heard whispering approvingly to their neighbors, "That's just like in the book."

The highway committee was authorized to purchase three light trucks for maintenance work on the state and federal highways in the county. The executive committee was authorized to make temporary loans for the county if necessary and to pledge county owned tax certificates in payment. The county owns $154,161.44 in tax sale certificates. The board will reconvene at 9:30 Thursday morning.

promise of a "streamlined" program is being fulfilled. The women showed their appreciation of the earlier closing schedule, too when they applauded heartily when asked how they liked the 11:15 dismissal. The same schedule will be followed during the remaining two days of the school.

The kitchen set for this year as well as for the last six years was decorated by Leland Feavel.

Tom Temple's and his orchestra were in fine fettle this morning, and as a gesture of thanks to Miss Kidd for the cake which she presented to them, they dedicated a number, "Sleepy Time Down South". Outstanding spots in the music were the vocal duet by Harriet Cleland and Les Schmidt in "The Umbrella Man", "Begin in the Beginning" with Marion Brennan doing the vocal, and "I Promise You" with chorus by Les Schmidt. Other numbers were "Night and Day", "Little Skipper", "Heaven Can Wait" and "Beer Barrel Polka".

Little Bird From Foreign Land Has a Chance to See Wisconsin

BY DON ANDERSON
Somewhere in Appleton or nearby there is a strange little bird wandering, lost and perplexed. Wandering and wondering how come one day in a cosy box and the next in a big and bewildering world.

Somewhere in Appleton, most likely in the Irving Zuelke building, Dr. C. L. Kolb is looking most fully at an empty cage and brooding over what to do with two white leghorn chicks.

Dr. Kolb and the group of friends who share his sadness know not where the strange little bird went nor from what far land it came. There were all manner of conjectures as to its species. It was said to be a Japanese nitingale. One unfeeling fellow said it was a Swedish nitingale.

It seems the dentist received the bird through the mail yesterday. A very rare bird. When it arrived in a box, Dr. Kolb legged it over to a hardware store and bought a cage. He transferred the little thing tenderly from the box to the cage.

Came time for going home and surprising the household. He strode out the door of the Zuelke building, swinging the cage confidently. He was just stepping into his car. That's when it happened.

Maybe it was the scent of spring in the air. Maybe the little bird heard the peep of a free sparrow. Or maybe it was because the spaces between the bars of the cage were large enough to allow several like the little bird, flying abreast, to get through unhampered.

It Went Away
Anyway, there was a pert tweet. Dr. Kolb looked down just in time to see the little bird fly away. It went up on a tall building. It didn't come down. Then it went away.

Several of Dr. Kolb's staunch friends were around. They felt a surge of pity over what had happened. Something must be done to repair this, they said.

They drove out to a hatchery and purchased two white leghorn chicks. When Dr. Kolb returned to his office, he found the chicks there, munching corn that had been strewn on the floor.

Today there is talk of a coming chicken dinner at the Kolb household. There is joking and laughing over what happened. But somewhere the strange little bird is wandering and wondering. And somewhere a cage is empty and bleak.

Cloudy Tonight, Weatherman Says

Thermometer Back Up to Normal, Reads 73 This Afternoon

Cloudy weather tonight and continued warm temperatures tomorrow was the Milwaukee bureau's outlook for Appleton and vicinity today.

While the mercury climbed back into normal levels—registering 73 at 1 o'clock this afternoon in the city—the weatherman forecast showers for the west and north parts of the state and said that the thermometer will be higher tomorrow in the east and south.

Meanwhile, spring moved on apace in Appleton today, although the thermometer fell to a brisk 37 above at 6 o'clock this morning. Today's afternoon reading of 73 was considerably above yesterday's high, 58.

Phoenix, Ariz., with 94, and Frankfort, Mich., with 28, were the hottest and coldest cities respectively in the nation yesterday, the Associated Press reported.

Governor Heil Gives Final Approval to Farm Council's 'Employment Peace' Measure

Madison—(P)—A new chapter in Wisconsin labor legislation was written today with the signing by Governor Julius P. Heil of the Wisconsin Council of Agriculture's "employment peace act."

The new law wiped out the "little Wagner act" sponsored by the La Follette administration two years ago. It created a new supervisory board of three members to be appointed by the governor for six year terms with the consent of the senate.

Governor Heil affixed his signature last night. He is expected to act quickly to set up the new board.

Contending the 1937 law failed to give the employer a "fair break" in adjudication of labor disputes, the act of the governor enunciated a policy of protecting and promoting the interests of the employee, the public and labor on a basis of equality.

Assailed As 'Vicious'
Opponents charged it was "vicious" legislation and that it would set labor back 50 years in Wisconsin.

Assemblyman Reuben W. Peterson (R) Berlin, who sponsored the bill, declared industrial peace could be achieved only by leveling off employer and employee bargaining rights.

The measure, introduced Feb. 2, was declared by proponents to be partly an outgrowth of friction between farm and labor groups, such as the unionization drive at Richland Center Dairy Cooperative and a Kenosha cannery strike.

Under the new labor board, which will exercise quasi-judicial powers, one of the guiding rules will be the statement in the new law that no party in a dispute shall be permitted to introduce into the primary rights of third parties.

Chief Provisions
Principal provisions of the peace act:

- Outlaws sitdown strikes
- Requires 10 days notice to the employer of strikes affecting perishable agricultural products
- Forbids closed contracts except through agreement by 75 per cent of the bargaining union membership
- Prohibits secondary boycotts against employers
- The check-off system of collecting union dues is forbidden except with written consent of the worker
- Stranger picketing, which has been outlawed in the C. I. C. bill previously adopted, also is declared illegal in the act

WOULD REVISE LAW
Washington—(P)—Joseph A. P. Way, American Federation of Labor general counsel, told the senate labor committee today the A. F. of L. wanted the Wagner act revised to prevent the sort of action heard from the dairy cooperative union in the Kenosha cannery strike.

"We feel it is not the purpose of the law to give the employer the right to picket," he said. "We feel it is the purpose of the law to give the employer the right to picket."

Padway expressed his hope that the committee would be explaining amendments proposed by the A. F. of L. to the Wagner law. He said the amendments would curtail some of the board's power and limit its authority to invalidate union contracts.

OLD HOME WEEK MURDER

by Phoebe Atwood Taylor

she and Asey walked back to the roadster.

Asey gave her a coat from the rumble seat.

"I was goin' to stop at the hollow," he said, "but that can all wait. You're due for a hot bath an' dry things. I forgot you was wet to begin with."

But as they passed by the hollow and the figures out in front of the Randall house, Lane and two of his troopers halted them triumphantly.

"Shells," Lane shouted. "Hey, Asey, we got a shell!"

"Hush! Up!" In spite of Kay's appeals to Asey to stop and find out everything at once, Asey merely slowed up long enough to call out and assure Lane that he'd be right back. Then he continued on to Aunt Sara's.

"Don't wait," Kay hopped out of the car. "Hurry right back there, and when I'm ready I'm going to steam back after you in my percolator. Asey, do hurry—Lane was so excited!"

"I'm goin' to wait for you," Asey said. "Hush! Up, an' put on something that'll withstand the next shower were goin' to get, because—

"Asey, Lane'll be frother at the mouth! He wants you, and—"

"Uh-huh, an' I want you. You got a job to do for me, young lady, so hustle up."

Kay rushed off.

While she took a brief hot bath and a brief cold shower, Asey sat there in the car and puffed at his pipe. He was very pleased with the two discoveries made that afternoon, but not at all for the same reason Kay supposed.

He started the car as Kay appeared, dressed in a light tweed suit and wearing black and white sport shoes.

"I'm simply thrown together—what's the big idea, anyway?"

"You'll see."

Back at the hollow, Lane was annoyed at the way Asey had flipped past, and he went into the subject at some length.

"Nice way to treat the only clue we got so far," he said. "Zipping past in—"

"You may have the ham," Asey told him, "but we got the rest of the sandwich." He uncorked a compartment in the roadster and displayed the shotgun Kay had found.

"Where'd you find that?"

"Kay found it, over in the pond yonder. Now, let me gaze at that shell, will you? An' then you play around an' see if it c'nets with the gun. That r'minds me, where'd Jane go to, anyway?"

"Jane shut up shop," Lane said, and went tripping off with that Chase boy. She just ignored some customers. She—

"With Zeb Chase?"

"Yes. She said something about a ciambake. I said what should I do with the customers, and she said, never mind them. No one's been around lately, though. They got rained out."

An hour later Lane lined up half a dozen shells for Asey's inspection.

"There," There was a note of joy in his voice. "There you are. See? The same. This is the gun that fired the shell that killed Mary Randall. There you are."

"This is the gun that fired the shell," Asey corrected him.

"I suppose you think—look, you come out here and let me show you where I found it!"

Asey and Kay followed him out to a small and badly kept garden at the side of the house.

"Now, here's where the shell was. See how the rain washed it out of that hole? It's smack on our line, or near enough, anyway. Someone tossed it there, and covered it over."

U. W. Locks Horns With NBC in Fight For Air Facilities

Faces Stiff Battle in Attempt to Get Stronger Radio Station

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau Washington—The University of Wisconsin has a stiff fight on its hands in its attempt to get a 50,000 watt radio station to be heard all over the state.

The $200,000 station and studio can be granted to the university only if the facilities are taken from WMAQ in Chicago.

The hearing on the application has again been postponed, and is now set for July 31, having first

See—Asey, what's the matter with you?"

Lane was annoyed and impatient. Usually Asey caught on to things before you expected him to. This afternoon he was being unnecessarily slow.

Continued Tomorrow

been postponed from Feb. 28 to May 1.

The station would operate on 670 kilocycles with unlimited time. In addition to having more power than the present WHA, the university's station, it would be able to operate at night as well as in the daytime.

Has Other Stations

WMAQ is an NBC station. NBC also has two other stations in Chicago, WCFL, 970 kilocycles and 5,000 watts, and WENR-WLS, 870 kilocycles, 50,000 watts.

It is argued that NBC should not be allowed to have two 50,000-watt stations, on cleared channels, in Chicago.

A precedent for an educational institution's owning a 50,000-watt station and using a cleared channel is WWL, owned by Loyola University in New Orleans, La.

People around Stevens Point are reported to fear that WLBL, located there, with its transmitter at Auburndale, might be abandoned. WLBL is not a party to this application, however. In 1933, when one big state-owned station was unsuccessfully sought, WHA and WLBL were to be merged.

Creeping Jenny Enemy of Farmer, Agronomist Warns

Urges Farmers to Sow Only Tested Seeds to Pre- vent Field Bindweed

Field bindweed, sometimes called creeping jenny and small flowered wild morning glory, is one of the worst weeds and should be cleared from farms before it causes serious damage, George M. Briggs, state agronomist, warns in a bulletin received by J. E. Magnus, county agricultural agent.

There are a number of reasons why Briggs regards bindweed as one of the worst enemies of the farmer. Among other things, he says that it grows close to the ground where small and often soft started in a patch before it is noticed. Then it spreads both by seeds and roots and when the seeds do get into the soil they live for many years, making it difficult to eradicate.

Among the things which farmers can do to prevent bindweed are outlined by Briggs are, first of all, to sow nothing but tested seeds which are free from weed seeds. The bindweed can be prevented from forming seed by cutting plants late in June and then every three weeks. Threshing machine and burndown wagons should be cleaned between jobs. He also cautions against dragging the roots with cultivators or other implements. If one must purchase hay, bedding, or manure, it should be obtained only from farms known to be free from bindweed.

Those who wish to become familiar with this pest so as to be able to recognize it when seen will find illustrations showing the flower, leaf, and stems in a special circular which may be obtained by writing the county agent's office.

Jeske Herd High Producer of Fat

Mixed Herd Shows Best Month's Record in Im- provement Group

The Oscar Kniesler mixed herd of Holsteins and Guernseys produced an average of 1,039 pounds of milk or 39.8 pounds of butterfat to take first place in the Black Creek Herd Improvement association during April, according to William Yonkman, tester.

The high producing cow for the month was in the Albert Jeske herd. It showed 1,800 pounds of milk containing 67.7 pounds of butterfat.

Owners of other high producing herds and records are: Emil Mueller, 39 pounds of butterfat; Guy Daniels, 36.7 pounds; Herman Miller, 36.7 pounds and Albert Jeske, 36.5 pounds.

Records of high producing cows and owners are: William Barth, 63 pounds of fat; Albert Jeske, 61.3 pounds; Emil Mueller, 57.6 pounds; Theodore Miller, 57 pounds; and Guy Daniels, 56.6 pounds.

Liming Materials Cut Fertilizer Acidity

Commercial fertilizers are less acid than formerly, since research showed how to use liming materials, chiefly dolomite, to make non-acid forming fertilizers, according to a crop reporting service bulletin received by J. E. Magnus, county agricultural agent.

The use of increasing amounts of synthetic nitrogen in the place of organic nitrogen, which is now much more expensive, tends to make fertilizer acid, if no neutralizing material is used. Much research on acid fertilizer has been carried on in the bureau of chemistry and soils of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The bureau reports that in 1929 the average fertilizer was so acid that it needed the equivalent of 115 pounds of calcium carbonate — limestone — to neutralize the effects on the soil of a ton of fertilizer. By 1933, with the increasing use of synthetic nitrogen, an equivalent of 152 pounds of limestone was needed. Then many manufacturers started using liming materials in the place of sand filler. Now the average fertilizer is only slightly acid, requiring the equivalent of about 20 pounds of limestone to neutralize it.

A nicotine spray developed by the Department of Agriculture is said to be more satisfactory than the old lead arsenate sprays in combating fruit tree pests.

FARMER'S MARE FOALS HORSE AND MULE TWINS

Ben Grifton, Lawrenceburg, Ky., farmer, rubbed his eyes in disbelief when his 5-year-old Percheron mare foaled twins, but when one was a colt and the other a mule, it was almost too much. Odds on twins being born to a mare are 25,000 to 1. The colt is black and the mule is brown. Grifton is shown riding the mare, followed by the twins with the mule on the right.

War Against Grasshoppers to be Waged in 50 Counties This Year

While Wisconsin mobilizes its grasshopper fighting forces for this summer, the enemy lies in wait. The war against grasshoppers will be waged in at least 50 Wisconsin counties in which the 'hoppers have concentrated for their annual attack.

The marauding enemy has entrenched itself on approximately 935,000 acres of Wisconsin crop land according to estimates based on the results of a grasshopper egg survey conducted by all counties last fall by the state department of agriculture and markets and the federal government.

Fifteen counties have 30 per cent of their crop acreages infested with grasshoppers; seven others have over 25 per cent, and 10 have over 20 per cent, the state agricultural department reports.

The federal government plans to furnish enough sodium arsenite to make up 9,000 tons of wet bait to be used in fighting the 'hoppers in Wisconsin. It will also furnish three field men to supervise the control operations. As soon as the 'hoppers begin to hatch, these men will hold field demonstrations with county agents and farmers to show how grasshopper bait should be mixed and distributed.

68 Meetings
Throughout Wisconsin, the state department of agriculture and markets has conducted 68 meetings this spring to discuss grasshopper control plans. General problems connected with this season's campaign were also outlined before county agents at district meetings conducted at Green Bay and Barron by E. L. Chambers, state entomologist, and Ben J. Rusy, county agent supervisor of the college of agriculture.

The campaign against the 'hoppers will be guided by a committee consisting of Warren W. Clark, associate director of extension, college of agriculture; Ralph E. Ammon, director, and E. L. Chambers, entomologist, department of agriculture and markets, and W. F. Grimmer, superintendent of game management, conservation department. Chambers is committee secretary and state leader for the campaign.

Field supervisors furnished by the United States bureau of entomology and plant quarantine will be A. L. Miller, Gregory J. Imhoff, and Harvey Chada, with headquarters at Madison, Wausau, and Barron, respectively.

Report Decrease Caused By Use of Motor Driven Machinery

Madison — It appears that Old Dobbin, the farm family horse, continues to lose his struggle with the machine. For the second consecutive year the horse population in the state again has decreased. More and more farm work is being done by motor driven machinery.

With the more general use of the motor truck and the introduction of the tractor for farm work, the number of horses in the state decreased sharply after the world war. This decrease was steady until 1934; after that time some increases in horse numbers were reported for each of the following three years, according to the crop reporting service of the Wisconsin and United States Departments of Agriculture.

In recent years many of the horses have become too old for farm work, and there has been an increase in the number of younger animals on Wisconsin farms. According to the last estimates there were 52,000 colts under two years of age on farms in the state. The horse population is estimated at 515,000 head or about 11,000 head less than the number reported at the beginning of 1938.

Farming practices have undergone great changes in recent years.

Emil Much Purchases Farm in Greenville

Emil Much has purchased a 72-acre farm in the town of Greenville from Edwin B. Palmer and has sold part of a lot in the village of Hortonville to Palmer. The real estate transfers have been filed at the office of Stephen Peeters, Outagamie county register of deeds. The following transfers also have been filed:

Edwin B. Palmer to James H. Sommers, part of a lot in the village of Hortonville.
Della Unmuth to George E. Ulman, a lot in the town of Grand Chute.
Peter Jackels to Nicholas Sebetie, part of a lot in the town of Buchanan.
Emma Moss to Edward R. Werner, a lot in the city of Seymour.

FARM AUCTION

Walter Klemp, Clintonville, will be the auctioneer at a farm sale at the J. L. Cummings farm two miles northwest of Leeman next Monday. Cattle and equipment will be auctioned starting at 12:30 in the afternoon.

Many of these changes have been caused by the introduction of machinery. Now, practically nine out of ten farmers have an automobile, about 25 per cent of the Wisconsin farmers own a motor truck, and there are tractors on about a third of the farms in the state, the crop reporting service says. In addition farms not having tractors on them are in many cases plowed by the tractors from neighboring farms.

Theodore William Dies at Little Chute

Little Chute — Theodore William, 69, died Tuesday morning at his home here after a lingering illness. Surviving are two brothers William, Little Chute, and Henry of San Jose, Calif.; four sisters, Mrs. Dora Hammen, Mrs. Anna Van Gompel, Mrs. Joseph Jansen and Mrs. Peter Weyenberg, all of Little Chute. Funeral services will be conducted at 9 o'clock Friday morning at St.

John church by the Rev. John J. Sprangers. Burial will take place in the parish cemetery.

APPLETON PEOPLE WILL BE PLEASED WITH GLY-CAS ACTION

News That The Gly-Cas Man Is Coming Strikes Interest Of Local Public; Modern Capsule Remedy Has Proved Results In Thousands Of Cases.

Public interest in Appleton and vicinity has risen to a high pitch following the news that Gly-Cas, the powerful medical compound, will be introduced and explained here to prove to sufferers its surprising efficacy. Even now several local people are making special sour and I would belch, making a constant burning in my throat. All of this together with severe attacks of indigestion would make me very nervous and irritable. But this was only the beginning. My bowels caused me much suffering also. My back never ceased aching and was so sore and stiff. Not a night would pass without my having to arise several times because of too frequent bladder action. I felt so sluggish and miserable and was in a terrible run-down condition. All this time I was experimenting with first one medicine and then another, trying to get something to reach my case but they all failed completely. I did not know what to do next as I consulted physicians and had followed many recommendations of various people but to no avail whatever. Then a good friend told me of the wonderful vegetable remedy, Gly-Cas, and I determined to give it a chance to work on my stubborn case. Almost from the very first of the trial I began to see that Gly-Cas was giving results — much to my pleasant surprise.

MRS. BERNICE CORDRY

tests of this modern capsule remedy and others will be made by the Gly-Cas Man at the Voigt's Drug Store, 134 East College Ave., this city, where he will meet the public beginning Thursday morning at nine o'clock.

One of the cases where Gly-Cas has accomplished such satisfactory results after all other medicines tried had failed completely, is that of Mrs. Bernice Cordry, 1620 Third Ave., Columbus, Georgia. Read what she said recently in a public statement lauding the action of this herbal remedy:

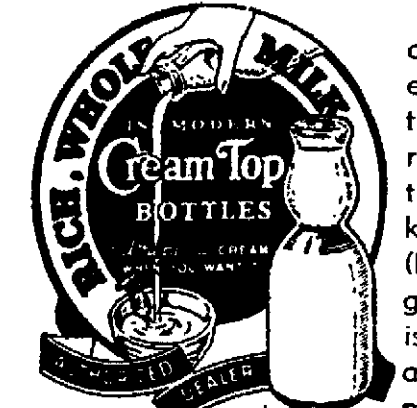

"It is a joy to have plenty of energy and strength to do my work now without being in such a miserable condition," said Mrs. Cordry. "For the past years my stomach had been so disordered that it was impossible for me to even get proper nourishment. Even though I would eat barely enough to keep myself alive I endured intense suffering because of improper digestion. Gas would form in abundance and crowd my heart causing it to palpitate and making it very difficult for me to breathe. My foods would very first of the trial I began to see that Gly-Cas was giving results — much to my pleasant surprise.

"I am now enjoying the best natural sleep and rest I have had in years," continued Mrs. Cordry, "and feel that I have a new lease on life. I have regained my weight and strength so that I have plenty of energy and am able to do all my work with ease. I am never troubled at all with my stomach and eat the foods that I desire. My whole system has undergone a complete change and regular process, eliminating stored up waste matter. It is really wonderful the benefits that I have derived from this medicine with such decided and proven merits Gly-Cas did not disappoint."

The Gly-Cas Man will meet the local public everyday at the Voigt's Drug Store, 134 East College Ave., this city, beginning Thursday Morning at nine o'clock, where he will introduce and explain the action of medical compound. During the opening days trial packages will be given away to all who wish to put this remedy to a TEST in their case.

BE SAFE... WITH FAIRMONT'S PASTEURIZED MILK

Carefully selected milk, clean and fresh, is not enough: "It must be pasteurized to assure safety," recommend leading scientists and doctors. They know that pasteurization (heating liquids to 145 degrees for thirty minutes) is the sure way to remove any health hazard that may be present.

Be sure that your family has the added protection that pasteurization affords. Use Fairmont's Pasteurized Milk. It's selected from healthy herds, pasteurized and kept pure from dairy to your home.

Steel Activity Continuing to Point Downward

Shrinkage in Coal Supplies Factor in Additional Letdown

Cleveland—Activity in steel markets continues to decline irregularly. Shrinkage in coal supplies partly is responsible for the additional letdown in demand and production, but this is a minor factor, since districts only slightly affected by the bituminous suspension also are quieter, according to magazine Steel.

Some products show resistance to the downward trend in business. Bars and sheets, influenced by smaller orders from the automotive industry in recent weeks, are moving slowly, but structural shapes, concrete reinforcing bars and tin plate continue relatively active. Pipe demand also shows occasional gains.

Uncertainty still clouds the outlook, this being reflected in the small size of many orders. Consumers are keeping stocks in close balance with early needs while reduced mill operations serve to curtail production. Ingot production was lowered 14 points to 49 per cent last week and at some plants is well below the rate of finishing mill operations. Steelmaking a year ago was 32 per cent.

Automobile assemblies have started to decline. This trend is expected to continue through the remainder of this quarter and only small steel orders are looked for before June from parts makers in connection with 1934 models. Absence of active demand from this industry is one reason or anticipating further recession in steelmaking the coming 60 days.

Motor car output last week was off 3640 units to 86,640 but was well ahead of the 50,755 units built a year ago. Chrysler again accounted for the latest change, reducing output from 23,625 units to 19,325. General Motors increased from 34,405 to 35,005; Ford was steady at 21,460; all others rose from 10,770 to 10,850.

Steelmaking in certain districts will be curtailed further in the event of prolongation of the coal mining tieup. Pittsburgh and Youngstown areas both held at 43 per cent last week, but Chicago was down 4 points to 49. Other reductions included 14 points to 37 in eastern Pennsylvania, 2 points to 63 at Wheeling, 9 points to 55 at Buffalo and 5 points to 55 at Birmingham and 2 1/2 to 42 at St. Louis.

New England increased 8 points to 43. Cincinnati was up 6 to 52. Detroit rose 2 to 59, and Cleveland advanced 2 1/2 to 59.

Movieland Its People and Products

MARGARET LINDSAY—whose motion picture debut was made in the British film 'Cavalcade' as the bride who went down on the Titanic—has since proved that her talents include the lighter as well as the darker moods of life.

By Jimmie Fidler

Hollywood—Despite the criticism of Jimmy Roosevelt as a high-salaried movie executive—in which I join—it seems to me that Samuel Goldwyn, by buying his services, has provided himself the A-1, 18 carat genius of his press agents' claims. Let's reconsider the Roosevelt deal, carefully laying aside any sensibilities which, in this new era, have no place in cold-blooded business affairs. What is Sam getting for his dough?

Well, first of all, a bumper crop of publicity, harvested immediately after his discovery of young Mr. Roosevelt's unsuspected talent for things cinematic. Secondly, a bumper crop of publicity when Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, a "must mention" personality in every newspaper, happened to be in Los Angeles for the preview of "Wuthering Heights," and consented to attend and praise. And, thirdly, a bumper crop of publicity when Jimmy's charm and salesmanship induced the British King and Queen to preview the same picture and invite him to dinner on his arrival in England—something Their Majesties probably wouldn't have done for any ordinary film salesman. Pass up any "spirit of friendliness" generated in official quarters, at a time when the picture business badly needed a spirit of friendliness, and you'll still have to admit that Samuel Goldwyn, the old maestro of pungent expressions, has scored a home run. Why, Warner Brothers, for instance, spent far more—and got far less—on that Dodge City trek. And Goldwyn still has eight more months of headline harvesting safely guaranteed. Imagine people foolish enough to think he had bought a white elephant, when—without a word being said about it in the contract—he actually seems to have bought a house!

IDOL CHATTER: Nothing more nautical than Frank Morgan in navy blue and brass at the wheel of his yacht, the Dolphin. Hollywood similes: as apprehensive as a star at a premiere, looking about to see if she has been seated among the hot polo. No wonder Boris Karloff rates such big paychecks—he's worth his weight in ghoul. Bet you even money that a search of Sidney Toler's pockets will always reveal at least one travel folder—he does on 'em. Crime note: Virginia Field refusing to pose in a bathing suit.

Doug Fairbanks, Sr. still has the spring of youth in his walk but his hair reminds me of the auctioneer's chant: "Going . . . going . . . gone!" No love lost: Lynn Overman and Akim Tamiroff. People who sneer at the garish taste of movie stars should see the simple elegance of Binnie Barnes' new home. Jane Withers' fans might just as well reconcile themselves to the fore-ordained future—Janey's going to be hippy . . . What could be more appropriate than the final title selected for Annabella's current picture, "Bridal Suite?"

In certain front-face photos, Peter Lorre looks like a clever parody on Charles Boyer. In one respect at least, "The Women" will be a novel screen experience for Norma Shearer. Joan Crawford and Rosalind Russell—not one of them will rate a kiss or a clench. In a word—description of almost any glamour gal discussing her art: super-silly-ous. Raveful reflection: never bet on a ping pong game with Wendy Barrie—the girl's unbeatable.

There's a chuckle on the success story of Brenda Joyce, who will make her screen debut in the very important second-lead of Twentieth Century's "The Rains Came." A very few months ago, Miss Joyce was a co-ed at the University of Southern California. She had screen ambitions but not one moment's experience before the cameras to back them up—and everyone whose advice she asked painted a dismal picture of impenetrable studio gates. This wise-acre told her she would have to spend several years getting stage experience, that know-it-all talked about the necessity of having an influential agent. One day Brenda lost her temper, tucked a few cabinet photos of herself under her arm and went out to the studio—cold turkey. And on that first trip she landed a screen test. On her second visit, she was given a term contract and a role for which the studio had already tested 58 experienced girls. Sometimes, it seems, the direct approach is best.

Here's an instance of publicity back-firing. Some weeks ago, Paramount sent out a batch of still pictures on "Union Pacific," and among them several photographs of Akim Tamiroff in the make-up he wears as "Fiesta," a Mexican gunman—and got far less—on that Dodge City trek. And Goldwyn still has eight more months of headline harvesting safely guaranteed. Imagine people foolish enough to think he had bought a white elephant, when—without a word being said about it in the contract—he actually seems to have bought a house!

Hollywood simile: as futile as the ethical physician-husband of a glamour star, trying to avoid unethical publicity.

Extent of Taxpayer's Rights Issue in Court

Madison—Circuit Judge H. P. Hughes took under advisement here Tuesday a case to determine extent of a taxpayer's right to interfere in the operation of a municipally owned utility.

W. T. Doar, Cumberland attorney, and the Wisconsin Hydro Electric company, sought review of a public service commission order approving purchase of a diesel engine by the municipal utility at Cumberland.

Counsel for the commission and the city asked dismissal of the complaint, asserting Doar had no right to interfere with operation of the utility.

Says Administration Tries to 'Stop Garner'

Washington—Representative Mason (R-Ill.) accused the Roosevelt administration Tuesday of promoting a "stop Garner program."

By creating "an alliance of New Dealers, labor leaders, radical 'reds' and northern Negroes," Mason said in a statement, administration men "hope to block" the vice president out of a chance at the Democratic nomination for the presidency next year.

The Illinois Republican linked with what he called "this large encirclement program" several lesser ones. He charged that John L. Lewis, Secretary Perkins and the labor board were trying to encircle the A. F. of L., that communists were trying the same thing on the CIO and that the administration almost succeeded in doing it to business "before congress woke up."

Says Railroad Better Off Without RFC Loan

Washington—Samuel H. Cady, general counsel for the insolvent Chicago and North Western railroad, told a senate committee Tuesday "we would have been better off if we had never borrowed a penny from the Reconstruction Finance corporation."

Testifying before the interstate commerce committee in opposition to a proposed revision of the railroad bankruptcy law, Cady said the road had put up $100,000,000 collateral to cover its borrowings from the RFC.

"The result has been a weakening of our financial structure," Cady asserted, "and we would have been better off to go into receivership in 1932 when our maturities came due."

"The country would have been better off if it had never established the RFC," Chairman Wheeler (D-Mont.) interjected. "But it was a lot of railroad presidents who were whispering around in the cloakrooms begging for the establishment of the RFC."

3,432 Motorists are Arrested in Chicago

Chicago—Police enforcing various automobile license laws rounded up 3,432 motorists for non-compliance during the 24 hours ended at midnight Tuesday.

Summons were issued for failure to have state license plates, vehicle stickers, driving licenses, safety inspection stickers. The motorists have a choice of paying in the cafeteria court or going to trial.

Judge John Gutknecht of traffic court announced he would assess a $10 additional fine on traffic violators who have no driver's license or evidence of an application on file.

N. L. Trackster In Record Mile

William Schmidt Clips 4
Seconds Off State
Mark at Neenah

BY TOM MATTERSON
NEENAH — Red-headed William Schmidt, New London, shattered the state high school record in the mile, clipping four seconds off the present mark, when he skirted the distance in 4 minutes 33.8 seconds during a dual meet between Neenah and New London here Tuesday afternoon.

Warren Kettering, Neenah, also set a record during the contests when he heaved the shot for a distance of 45 feet. It is a new track mark.

New London won the dual event handily, 7-1 to 30-23. The Bull Dogs scored one slam in the meet, taking three places in the high jump.

Schmidt's effort only set a new track record, for the time is unofficial as far as state marks are concerned. The present state record of 4 minutes 37.6 seconds is held by Kummer, South Milwaukee, who ran the four laps in that time last year.

Although Schmidt posted his record time on a fast track, the Neenah High school cinder path being one of the best in this section of the state, the red-head wasn't pressed. He was a long distance ahead of Sommers and Meyers, Neenah, who took second and third respectively. Schmidt is a junior.

Take Ten Firsts
New London had little trouble outkicking the Red Rockets, coping 10 first places to Neenah's two, six and a third share of second places to Neenah's five and two shares, and three third places to Neenah's eight.

Douglas Hoier, the Bull Dogs' star athlete, annexed individual honors, taking three first places. He leaped 5 feet 9 inches to win the high jump, and skinned over the 220-yard low hurdles in 27.5 seconds and the 120-yard high hurdles in 16 seconds to win both events.

Elroy Roessler, New London, took second honors, winning two first places and a second. He dashed the century in 10.9 seconds and the furlong in 25.6 seconds, taking second in the broad jump.

Besides W. Kettering, Kalkoske was the only other Neenah trackman to cop a first. He sprinted the 440-yard dash in 56.4 seconds. Performances by Brault in the broad jump and Berman in the discus also were outstanding, the former leaping 19 feet, 2 inches and the latter tossing the discus 110 feet, 10 inches.

Summary:
100-yard dash — Roessler (NL), first; Barlow (NL), second; Schmidt (NL), third. Time — 10.9 seconds.
220-yard dash — Roessler (NL), first; Barlow (NL), second; Schmidt (NL), third. Time — 25.6 seconds.

120-yard high hurdles — Hoier (NL), first; Hackstock (NL), second; Freiberger (NL), third. Time — 16 seconds.

220-yard low hurdles — Hoier (NL), first; Freiberger (NL), second; Anderson (NL), third. Time — 27.5 seconds.
Half mile — Ross (NL), first; Taves (NL), second; Winkelman (NL), third. Time — 2:19.9.
Mile — Schmidt (NL), first; Sommers (NL), second; Meyer (NL), third. Time — 4:33.6 (new record).

Clintonville Lineup Takes Form as First Game Nears
CLINTONVILLE — The Clintonville FWD Truckers baseball team, defending champion of the Northern State league, and this year operating under the Clintonville Athletic Club has begun to practice for its opening game at Manitowish Sunday. Because the club was so long in taking shape and because no one took it upon himself to organize the team, the Truckers will have to rush their conditioning to be in shape for Sunday's game. It wasn't until last week that a manager was appointed and now Len Goerlinger, who guided the Trucks to the pennant last year, hasn't much time to get out of town.

The team this year will be weakened by the loss of Ed Schmidt, who held down the first sack for several seasons. Schmidt had a good baseball head and at one time played in the Three-I league where he gained a wealth of experience. To replace him will be no easy task but Goerlinger tried out Petecka in practice and the former hinner may get the starting call. Petecka is a fair fielder and has a mighty stick and should be able to work in well. Another prospect for the vacant first sack is Johnny DeVaud whose only weakness is at the plate.

Lawrence Track Squad Showing in First Dual Meet

Ripon Is Opponent: Tennis, Golf Teams
Also Competing

LAWRENCE college track, golf and tennis teams are at Ripon this afternoon competing against like squads of Crimmon athletes. The golf match is being played over the Tusculum course.

The Viking tracksters went into the meet, their first this season, with hardly any of the confidence of the last three seasons. There isn't enough balance to make a good dual meet squad, according to Coach Arthur C. Denney, and he expects to take a few of the trimmings his teams have handed out while running up 15 straight victories.

Captain Joe Graf will hold his own in the sprints although his times so far can't be compared with other years. Ken Osborn should win the javelin but the squad will have nothing in the hurdles or the distance runs.

Crawford in High Jump
In the quarter mile the Vikes will have several entrants who will garner points while a couple sophomores, James Orwig and Willie Davis are certain of something in the pole vault. Jack Crawford hasn't been showing the best form in the high jump but should place first or second. The broad jump will find Graf showing again and he'll be among the leaders. Joe Maertzwiler will carry the burden in the shot put but the discus is a question.

The Lawrence golf team will be under the supervision of Coach Bernie Heseltin. It will show Stan Zwerger, Richard Lewis, Bill Masterson and James Whitford.

At Beloit Friday
Thursday the Lawrence tracksters will take easy workouts and Friday night compete in the annual Beloit college relays.

Lawrence will show in the 440 and yard relays with the quartet picked from Buesing, Cape, Lockery, Beck and Captain Joe Graf. Last year the Vikes annexed the 880 relay title.

The special events will show Captain Graf in the 100-yard dash, Osborn in the javelin, Orwig and Davis in the pole vault, Crawford, Orwig and Cape in the high jump and Maertzwiler in the shot.

Canadeo May Meet His Match in Bout With Racine Star

Two Appleton Fighters
Will Appear on Oshkosh Card Tonight

WEDNESDAY'S FIGHT CARD
Windup Bout
Savior Canadeo, St. Norbert's, at 147 pounds.
Carl Schumacher, Racine, at 147 pounds.
Don Loonsfoot, Green Bay, vs. Tommy Leeman, Milwaukee, at 123 pounds.

Preliminary Bout
Sam Dobbins, Oshkosh, vs. Harry Guzik, Milwaukee, at 135 pounds.
Jim Coyne, Fond du Lac, vs. George Steffens, Lena, at 160 pounds.
Cliff Lutz, Appleton, vs. Chief Smith, Neopit, at 140 pounds.
Tuffy Toonen, Appleton, vs. Russell Tourillotte, Neopit, at 120 pounds.

Henry Beck, Oshkosh, vs. Paul Rivers, at 150 pounds.
Time of bouts—8:30 o'clock.
Place—Recreational gymnasium.

Oshkosh—The final amateur fight card of the season to be presented by the Oshkosh Amateur Sports association will be staged in the Recreational gymnasium Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock with as fine a program as any lined up for the season and a card believed to be even better than that which had been planned with the Walsh twins, University of Wisconsin co-captains in boxing, as headliners.

While the Walsh boys fought in the valley before going to the university, they are not very well remembered by Oshkosh fans. On the other hand, Savior Canadeo, St. Norbert's college student, has fought here and throughout the valley in a number of recent bouts and he has taken the position of a favorite of fans throughout the state amateur circle.

Strengthens Card
His place on the card to replace one of the Walsh boys strengthens the program in the belief of many fans both in popular appeal and in talent.

While Canadeo has been beating the best of the card here and at Chicago, there will come a fighter who may tag him and Carl Schumacher of Racine, his opponent for tonight's bout may be the one. At least Schumacher will put up a battle and is expected to be on his feet at the final bell of the five-round affair and may even have what it takes to outpoint "Savy." A Racine business man, Fred Jackson, has informed Matchmaker Joseph "Zip" Schuster that he will fly here by airplane so as not to miss the bout as he figures Carl may be the one to stop Canadeo.

The Loonsfoot-Leeman five-rounder is expected to be a match between two clever fighters with both of them hard hitters.

Local fans are awaiting with interest the return to the ring here of Sam Dobbins, Oshkosh, a former favorite, who will meet Harry Guzik, Milwaukee. Sam has had a number of fights, but laid off from the game for a while and this year picked it up again and won the golden gloves championship in his division at Green Bay.

The Loonsfoot-Steffens set should be a slugfest, match from start to finish. Steffens has fought here, but not recently and has put on some pleasing exhibitions. He holds a decision over Frank Duket, Marinette, a light-heavyweight to whom he had to give away several pounds. Coyne is the southpaw who electrified the audience at the last card here by sending Vecie Van, Milwaukee Negro, to the canvas for a nine-count in the first round. Coyne went on to win.

Both Cliff Lutz, Appleton, and Chief Smith, Neopit, have fought here before and when they meet tonight they are expected to swap a lot of leather. Tuffy Toonen, Appleton, will meet Russell Tourillotte, Neopit Indian, in a three-rounder. Henry Beck, Oshkosh, who is new at the game, but coming along fast, will meet Paul Rivers, Fond du Lac.

Odds on Viscounty Drop from 100-1 to 15-1 After Trial Win

BY SID FEDER
LOUISVILLE, Ky.—(AP)—Whittled down from an original list of 115 by the sheer demands this mile-and-a-quarter grind makes on a horse, a field of 15 of the best three-year old colts in the racing world loomed today for Saturday's 65th running of the Kentucky derby—and four of those 15 were still listed as doubtful starters.

That was the consensus all over Louisville today as the blue grass trotted out its best bib and tucker to welcome the arriving multitudes. With Johnstown still the even-money favorite and getting his first work on the cuppy track at the downs this morning, it became apparent the betting fraternity wasn't going to be caught napping by the current No. 1 dark-horse candidate, Valdina farm's big brown Viscounty, whose odds, after winning yesterday's derby trial, were knocked flat from 100-1 to something like 15 to 1.

His was the only apparent change in odds from yesterday's one-mile prep, leaving Herbert M. Woolf's husky Inco colt, Technician, still second choice to Johnstown at 3-1, despite the setback Viscounty handed him by the width of his bit in the trial. W. L. Brann's suddenly-supported Challedon; William Ziegler, Jr.'s "Question Mark," El Chicor; J. H. Whitney's surprising Heister Broom; Mrs. B. Franzheim's mud-running Kalapa Clown; W. E. Boeing's Porter's Mile and Joe W. Brown's T. M. Dorsett, a pair regarded strictly as sprinters; Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' No Competition and J. W. Bell's sturdy Steel Heels were the others rated more-or-less certainties to step to the barrier in the $50,000 gallop.

FRED OLIVER GALLOPS AS VIKING GRIDDERS SCRIMMAGE

Lawrence college gridders, nearing the end of three weeks' spring practice, went through a spirited scrimmage last night at Whiting field and above is a picture of Fred Oliver, Appleton youth, getting off a long run on a reverse play. The Vikings will close the spring drills Saturday afternoon when they stage a game against the Green Bay Packers. The game will be open to the public and there'll be no admission. Drills have shown hard and have shown a lot of spirit. When the 1938 veterans join the squad in September, the Vikes should have a team that will be among the conference leaders. Chaff'n Chatter By Gordon R. McIntyre

ANY ANNOUNCEMENT of the word Appleton usually arouses the bristles on the back of the neck of one John M. Walter, sports editor of the Green Bay Press-Gazette. But when Lawrence college is mentioned in the same breath, John is inclined to be a little more interested.

So the other day when Tommy Ryan wrote John and gave the first official indication there would be a move to place Albert Novakofski in the balloting for the Chicago Tribune's all-star game next summer, John indicated he thought it was a good idea.

Personally we had heard only rumors of the impending setup but if Tommy is going to bat for Obbie, the prospects are that Obbie will get a lot of votes. Ryan handled things for Richard "Butch" Pfeifferle, Appleton, a couple years ago, and did a right well job.

Anyhow, here's what Sir John has to say about the idea:
"There will be a lot of warm weather, presumably, between the present time and the opening of the 1939 football season, but already there is All Star chatter in the atmosphere.

"Some time ago friends of John Biolo, Lake Forest guard who has signed with the Green Bay Packers, announced that they are planning play for that husky individual, and today a letter arrived from Tommy Ryan, Appleton, who is launching a putch for Obbie Novakofski, fleet-footed triple threat halfback of Lawrence college.

"Writes Ryan:
"People in Appleton and the surrounding communities have asked me to do what I can in arranging as many votes as possible for Obbie Novakofski, Lawrence college halfback, as a candidate for the Chicago Tribune All Star football team.

"It seems as though quite a civic interest is being taken in this boy, and I am sure that inasmuch as Novakofski is a candidate for the Green Bay Packer football team, that interest also will reach Green Bay.

"I am attempting to organize a vote-getting system for Novakofski, and am attempting to arrange a trade of votes with other communities in the state and other states.

"By 'trade of votes' Tommy means that Appleton fans will back athletes from other communities, in exchange for their backing of Novakofski.

"The Lawrence boy will get a lot of support from fans who have seen him play, although the matter of landing upon the All Star squad is something which requires a lot of votes, as those who backed Nick Miketina of St. Norbert last season are well aware.

Rules Changed to Make Intentional Fouls Unprofitable

New York—(AP)—In an effort to out-think the players and coaches, the national basketball rules committee has altered the regulations concerning free-throw in order to make intentional fouling unprofitable.

The new rule provides that after a free throw on a technical foul, the ball shall be put in play by the offended side from out-of-bounds at mid-court. On a personal foul, the offended team can either make the free toss or put the ball in play the same way. If two free throws are awarded, there is the option of taking one and passing up the second.

Other new regulations are the award of two free throws when a player in the act of shooting is fouled from behind or fouled, whether or not the goal is made, and permission for any player, instead of the captain alone, to ask the referee for time out.

Terms of the contract were not disclosed.

Tuesday Afternoon

Appleton High school tracksters competed against Kimberly High school in a more or less informal meet yesterday afternoon at Whiting field of Lawrence college with Appleton garnering four firsts and Kimberly three in the seven events run.

Sonny Filz won the low hurdles for Appleton, Don Heinrichs copped the shot. Schmidt the half mile run and Voge the mile run. The latter was paced for two laps and turned in the distance in 4 minutes, 45 seconds.

Oshkosh Awarded Forester Tourney

Beats Out Two Rivers by 5-3 Vote: At Green
Bay This Year

The 1940 tournament of the Fox river Valley Catholic Order of Foresters Bowling association was awarded to Oshkosh at a meeting of the directors of the organization held recently at the Columbus Community club at Green Bay. It will be the 18th annual tourney and the fourth held in Oshkosh, the others in this city having been in 1925, 1932 and 1936.

At the meeting last evening Richard Reif, Oshkosh, was re-elected a member of the board of directors of the association and Joseph Spanbauer, Oshkosh, was also elected to the board. Other new members are Earl Thomas and eliminated.

Joseph Schumacher, both of Green Bay.

A meeting of the directors will be held the first or second week in June at which time a tournament secretary will be elected. It was decided to change the division of prize money in the singles and doubles from a 60-40 basis between good bowling and good fellowship to an 80-20 basis.

This year's meet at Green Bay attracted 134 five-man teams, 64 doubles and 118 singles. It is hoped to exceed that number of entries in the Oshkosh tourney next spring. Two Rivers also asked for the 1940 meet, but Oshkosh was selected by a 5 to 3 vote.

Milwaukee—Walter Shelton, Marquette university sophomore, sprinter from Muncie, Ind., is slightly deaf and can scarcely hear the starter's gun unless he is close to the starting line. He jumped twice and was also elected to the board. Other new members are Earl Thomas and eliminated.

Prugh, Faust are Named to Police, Fire Commission

Town of Kaukauna Protection to be Considered at Early Meeting

Kaukauna—Ben G. Prugh, 715 Grignon street, and Louis J. Faust, 225 Margaret street, were appointed to the fire and police commission last night by Mayor Lewis F. Nelson. Prugh takes the place of Mike Gerharz, chairman whose term expired last month, and Faust that of John Rink, who died a short time ago. Alderman George Luebke reported that with the commission now at full membership a meeting would be held soon with the fire and police committee and the fire chief to discuss fire protection to the town of Kaukauna.

Harry F. McAndrews, city attorney, advised the council to lay over the interim zoning ordinance until arrangements had been made for a comprehensive measure. The planning commission is to meet next week and will have a recommendation to make to the council in this regard on May 16. Alderman Alger told the council men.

A letter from C. W. McNear and company Chicago financial house, said that that company was amending its agreement with the city, relative to the purchase of proposed utility bonds, to July 1. The agreement was concluded in September of 1938. Alderman Seggelink, finance committee chairman, moved the matter be laid over with the finance committee to consult with the utility commission before any action was taken.

Funds Transferred

Alderman Seggelink also moved and the council approved, that $251 be transferred from the general fund to the police pension fund. Lester J. Brenzel, city clerk, had

Alderman Steidl Reelected Head of Public Works Body

Tour of City to Map Street Work Is Announced For May 12

Kaukauna—Alderman Edward Steidl was reelected president of the board of public works as that body organized for the new year. It was reported to the council last night. The work of the board has been divided so that Steidl will handle the streets, Alderman Alger the sewers, and Alderman Seggelink the parks.

Steidl asked the members of the council's street committee, composed of an alderman from each ward, to line up the work in their wards and be ready to submit recommendations to the board May 12. On that day a tour of the city is planned with the object of surveying possible improvements. Petitions for paving are to be in by that time.

Will Beautify City

The Kaukauna Garden club is planning a campaign to beautify the city, Steidl reported, and the board of public works will cooperate. The club specifically was granted permission to improve the Lawe street park, where a supply of water will be made available. The club may also plant gardens on other city property. Alderman Mertes suggested the aldermen consider cleaning up the north bank of the navigation canal with relief labor.

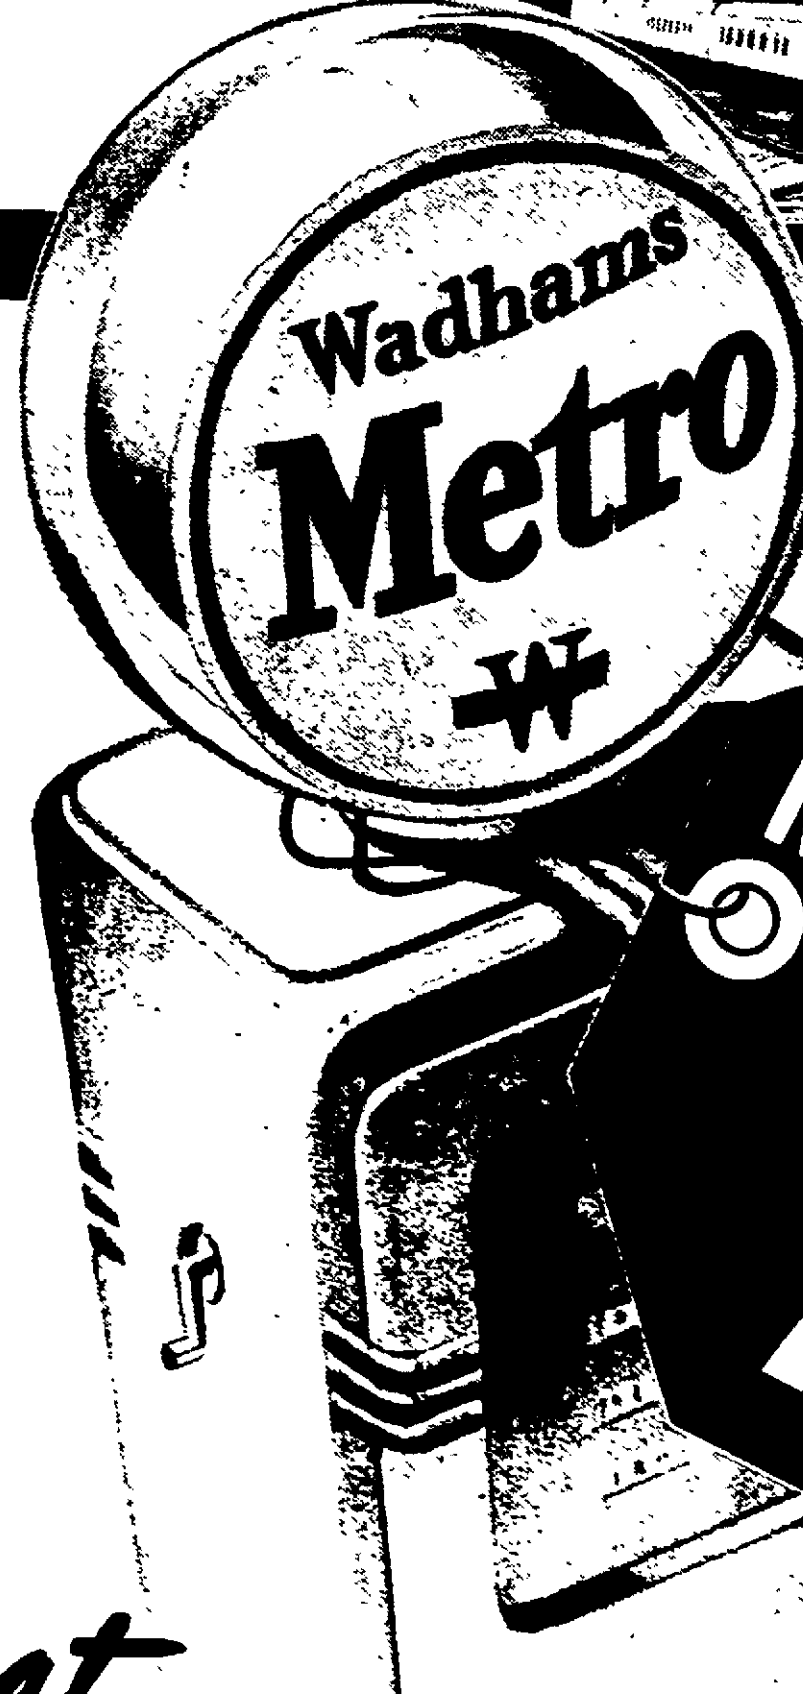

The council approved the board's purchase of a pump for $247, to be used on the Plank road sewer project. On June 9 men will be moved from this job to the city curb and sidewalk project, Steidl said. The board is also considering paving the road from the Thilmany Pulp and Paper company's upper mill crans pay a $10 license fee for each performance, with it being understood the council would later reimburse the veterans for this expenditure. A city ordinance demands the license.

The council elected Alderman Alger to succeed himself on the city planning commission. The board of health setup was discussed, with the group's organization deferred until the board of education names its representative on the body.

Two communications from WPA district authorities, regarding overtime on projects and the drawing of plans and work schedules, were referred to the board of public works.

Utility Rate Cut To Save Customers $10,000 Annually

New Schedule Will be Effective for Readings After May 8

Kaukauna—Rate reductions which will save customers of the Kaukauna Electric department about $10,000 a year were announced this morning by H. F. Weckwerth, utility superintendent. The new rates have been filed with the public service commission and will be effective for all meter reading and billings subsequent to May 8, Weckwerth said.

Customers of the Kaukauna department, located in the city of Kaukauna, Little Chute, Combined Locks, Freedom and the towns of Kaukauna, Vandenberg and Buchanan, are divided into four classes, residential, commercial lighting, commercial power, and rural. Savings in these classes will be about $8,240, $1,800, $840 and $900, respectively.

Revised Schedule

The new rates are as follows:

Residential lighting, fixed charge, 60 cents; first 50 kilowatt hours used per month at 3 cents; next 250 kilowatt hours at 2 cents; over 300 kilowatt hours used per month at 1 cent.

Commercial lighting, fixed charge, 75 cents; first 150 kilowatt hours, 3 cents; next 150 kilowatt hours, 2 cents; over 300 kilowatt hours, 1 cent.

Commercial power, first 200 kilowatt hours, 4 cents; next 300 kilowatt hours, 3 cents; next 4,500 kilowatt hours, 2 cents; over 5,000 kilowatt hours, 1 cent.

Rural, first 40 kilowatt hours, 8 cents; next 60 kilowatt hours, 3 cents; next 200 kilowatt hours, 2 cents; over 300 kilowatt hours, 1 cent.

Due to changes in requirements some of the utility's customers that were in the commercial power division have moved into the commercial lighting class. This shift will save them about $1,200 per year.

Menasha Aldermen Decide to Remove End of Boulevard

Will Seek Permission of Neenah Council for Change on Nicolet

Menasha—The Menasha council debated a solution to the Nicolet boulevard problem for over a half-hour at the council session Tuesday night, finally deciding to request the permission of the Neenah council to remove the east 39 feet of the boulevard with Menasha to bear the entire cost. The Neenah council will meet tonight.

At a meeting of the street committee of the two councils Tuesday afternoon an agreement was reached by which the two cities would share the cost of removing the east end of the boulevard as well as the small islands opposite Second, Fourth and Twelfth streets in Neenah.

Menasha aldermen, led by Edward Zeininger, objected to that agreement because they also want to remove the entire boulevard from Washington street to Ahnaip street along St. Patrick Catholic church. Zeininger wanted to win hold permission to remove the small islands as a bargaining instrument with the Neenah council. The islands are at dead end streets.

The request for the removal of the east end of the boulevard came from property owners along Lake road last December as a safety measure in case of fire. Fire Chief Paul Theimer declared that the truck could make the turn into the road if the run was made down the Menasha side of the boulevard.

The Menasha aldermen want the west end of the boulevard removed as a safety measure, but property owners protested when the suggestion was made some years ago. The aldermen all agreed that the west end of the boulevard was a traffic hazard, particularly when cars are parked there during church services.

Alderman Karrow favored the agreement reached by two street committees and also favored removal of the west end of the boulevard and argued that if the Neenah council saw that conditions were improved by removing the small islands they eventually would agree to the removal of the parkway. Alderman John Pinkerton suggested that it would be wise to get some of the work done now if it could be done without too much expense.

Mayor Jensen declared that the two cities should be good neighbors but said that Menasha agreed to remove the small islands now they never would be able to persuade the Neenah council to agree to removal of the west end. William DeBruin suggested that the Neenah council would give in on the west end of the boulevard if they were working in harmony.

Will Hire Plasterers
The council authorized Mayor Jensen to hire plasterers so the baseball stadium will be completed for the first home game on May 28. No plasterers are available on the WPA.

The mayor pointed out that 20 barrels of cement were used on Nassau street construction but there was no record of cement bags being returned. He pointed out that the city will use about 2,000 barrels of cement in the curb and gutter work this summer and that the return of the cement bags, at 10 cents each, will amount to quite a sum of money. He suggested that the city hire a man to check the cement deliveries as well as the sand, gravel and tools. The matter was referred to the street and finance committee.

The planning commission presented a report approving the request of the Wisconsin Tissue Mill for a spur track extension at the plant on Third street. Council approval was withheld though when Alderman Edward Zeininger objected to soot and noise nuisances at the plant and requested that an agreement be reached first.

Zeininger declared that he has received complaints about the soot for the last two years as well as objections to the noise caused day and night by the exhaust pipe. John Pinkerton suggested that the nuisances could be abated through the police power of the city but Zeininger declared that he wanted to do the matter in a business-like way without using force. The plant manager was asked to meet with the council at a committee of the whole meeting before the approval for the spur track is granted.

Curb and Gutter
No objections were heard to proposed curb and gutter projects of the water main and sewer extension on Fourth street at the board of public works hearing which preceded the council meeting. The council voted to authorize the work with WPA labor.

The curb and gutter projects are on Green Bay street from First street to Broad street, on Garfield avenue from Railroad street to Matheson street and on Seventh street from Appleton road to London street. The water main and sewer extension requested is on Fourth street about 200 feet east from Kosmae street.

The council voted to meet with Peter Borenz at a committee of the whole session in an attempt to reach a conclusion on the widening of a section of Third street. The city engineer estimated that improvements to the section would cost $560.

Vote $15,000 for Farm-to-Market Highway Program

County Board Revises Proposal for Salary Increases

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh—The Winnebago county board this morning appropriated $15,000 to continue the county farm-to-market program, a WPA stone crushing project, in a session at the county courthouse.

Supervisor Henry Schultz, Neenah, explained that the "bottom" has fallen out of some of the county trunk highways, especially in the western part of the county and that the crushed stone is needed as much this year as it was last year. He pointed out that contractors will bid for the job of crushing the stone, and WPA labor will be used on the project. One of the quarries used last year is owned by Courtney and Plummer, south of Neenah, and the other is near Winchester.

The board also revised the proposed resolution for the increase, classification and schedule in salaries for county employees, but the plan still was under discussion when the board adjourned at noon. Another resolution providing that a detailed account of the funds spent on the police radio station WAKE, be compiled under the direction of the sheriff and coroners committee and published in all daily and weekly newspapers in the county.

The board refused to adopt a resolution accepting the bill of sale of a county law library from the Winnebago County Bar association because of a reversion clause in the deed. The resolution provided that the library be given to the county as a gift under the condition that the county maintain the library, and it further provided that if the county did not maintain the library property it would revert to the association.

Goes to Attorney
The resolution was referred to the district attorney, Lewis C. Magnusen, to have the reversion clause eliminated. Supervisors E. F. Dornbrook and Robert M. Heckner, Menasha, said they were in favor of accepting the library but they would refuse to vote for it until the reversion clause is eliminated.

During the session on the proposed resolution for the increase in salaries and establishment of a salary schedule for county employees, Supervisor Heckner moved to adopt the establishment of the salary schedule but to eliminate the clause designating increases in salaries for certain employees. Supervisors Edward G. Sonnenberg and Dornbrook, Menasha, opposed Heckner's motion, declaring that the proposed increases in salaries especially in the county police department, are warranted. Supervisors Earl Hughes, town of Neenah, however, said he was opposed to the entire resolution and he contended that at every board meeting there are county employees seeking salary boosts. The increases would total $12,500.

Request for Space
The question of allotment of space in the Winnebago county courthouse building and local office of the agricultural adjustment association took up the majority of the afternoon session of the county board yesterday.

The local office of the AAA petitioned the county board for space when it was learned its present location in the Oshkosh post office building is not of a permanent nature.

The question of available space, the need for the county to house a federal project and the matter of providing space rent-free were discussed by the supervisors.

One of the rooms in the building mentioned as a possible location for the office is now being used by newspaper reporters.

After lengthy discussion on the actual working method of the local AAA office and its service to the rural residents, the petition was referred to the public building committee.

Plan Safety Council
The creation of a county safety council was proposed to the board by Supervisor Henry Schultz, Fourth ward, Neenah. The petition suggests a council of 15 citizens to investigate highway hazards and shape a safety program.

Washington School Pupils Arrange Display of Hobbies

Neenah—Hundreds of hobbies, ranging from tin soldiers to scrapbooks filled with pictures of the quintuplets, were shown by pupils of Washington school in a display arranged in the school basement last week.

The hobby display is a regular extracurricular activity at Washington school, and has developed into a sort of a contest between classes. Thermometers were placed on the doors of each room and actual count of the number of hobbies were kept, brought in the most number of hobbies being given a plant by the PTA.

Miss Hester Feller's fifth grade, under the leadership of Charles Bentzen, received the awards, while Miss Edithmae Wilson's fourth grade was second.

Several of the children brought in enough hobbies to completely fill one table in the display. Armin Gerhardt, Jr., was one of them, and his table included knot tying, bird houses, scrapbooks and puzzles. Charles Bentzen also had an outstanding hobby display which included six pictures and other art work.

One of the interesting things about the display was the predominance of two hobbies, collection of toy soldiers and war tanks, and scrapbooks filled with pictures of the quintuplets, both of these hobbies being typical of the boy and girl interests.

Some of the hobbies in Miss Feller's fifth grade display were a scrap book of cartoons, collections of carved boats, airplanes, jokes, stamps, buttons and medals, stones, small pennants, pins, coins, brass work, toy dogs, and many others.

In Miss Wilson's class display, hobbies included raising of rabbits, dancing and music; collections of birds, animals, puzzles, matchfolders, books, while in the exhibit of Miss Mary Wingren's class, there were embroidery, stamps, matches, picture puzzles, stones, brass work, scrapbooks and shells.

100-Year-Old Shell
Miss Elvira Ramthun's class's display included shells, one of which was from England and was 100 years old, submarines carved out of wood, soldiers, glass figures, scrapbooks of world cruises, automobiles and people of different lands, toy animals, matches and handcraft, clay modeling, guns and tanks, rocks and stones, dolls and embroidery.

A scrapbook of railroad trains was one of the interesting hobbies in the first grade exhibit. Other hobbies in the exhibit are collections of tin foil, matchfolders and other scrapbooks.

Miss Elaine Houston's second grade display included scrapbooks, dolls, stamps, airplanes, reading, building and a collection of nests, while Miss Marion Mainland's second grade exhibit included stamps, airplanes, marbles, sea shells, pictures, soldiers, paper dolls from different countries, blotters, and scrapbooks of different people.

Actions too fast to be seen ordinarily may be photographed with such a camera and then projected slow enough to be followed by the eye. Scenes shown included smoke passing through the blades of a fan, bursting of a soap bubble, flight of a canary, cat turning over when dropped, snake's tongue, football kick, bounce of a rubber ball, popcorn popping and the splashing of milk drops.

Vetter, Homan are Named to Menasha Fire, Police Board

Mayor Names Kosloske, Wickham to City Planning Commission

Menasha—Mayor W. H. Jensen named Herman Vetter and A. C. Homan to the fire and police commission at the council meeting Tuesday night at the city hall. Homan was named to a five year term while Vetter will serve four years. The appointments were confirmed by the council unanimously. Last year the council refused to confirm the appointment of a successor to Mr. Vetter and his term held over.

The mayor also named Harry Kosloske and Andrew Wickham to the city planning commission while the aldermen named Edward Zeininger as the council member of the commission. Ed Gammond is the hold-over member of the commission while Hugh Van Avery is the secretary and the mayor also serves as a member.

The aldermen adopted a new plumbing, private sewage disposal and drainage ordinance and confirmed the appointment of Knute Ellingboe as plumbing inspector by Mayor Jensen. Ellingboe was appointed for the balance of the year and will receive a salary of $50 a month from the city contingency fund. The new ordinance incorporates the provisions of the Wisconsin state plumbing code and state well drilling sanitary code.

The aldermen worked through a large amount of business in short order at the session. City Clerk Walter J. Dougherty was authorized to advertise for bids for road oil, motor oil and sidewalk construction.

Bids on May 16
In response to a suggestion by the mayor, bids will be returnable up to the time the council meets at 7:30 on May 16. The city is seeking bids on 80,000 gallons of road oil, 400 gallons of motor oil for use in the city trucks as well as on a quantity of sidewalk construction. The motor oil to be furnished in sealed cans and barrels. The successful bidder for the road oil must furnish a certificate of inspection and a competent man to supervise the application of the oil.

The city clerk also was authorized to advertise in the Sheboygan Press, official state paper, for the issuance of $150,000 in refunding bonds to replace present corporate purpose notes. The bonds are to bear interest at 2 1/2 per cent. The bids are returnable at 10 o'clock on the morning of May 15. Preliminary steps in the issuance of the bonds already have been taken and the voters of Menasha authorized the issue last fall.

A wholesaler fermented beverage license was granted to Mrs. Josephine Mastaffa on motion of Alderman Karrow. Operators permits were granted to Ed Pawloski, 736 Second street, and to Maurice Ashenbrenner, 308 Waco street.

The Menasha Woodmen Ware requested a tax refund of $170 on lots 1 to 8, Block 50, of the 12th ward explaining that title to that land had been conveyed to the city Aug. 10, 1938. The city purchased the land as a site for the water and light commission's electric substation. The request was referred to the water and light commission.

Claims of Mrs. Clarence Rose, 8131 Third street, and R. L. Dwyer, Green Bay, against the city were disallowed on recommendation of the city attorney. Mrs. Rose claimed damages for a baby carriage broken at a crossing on Plank road while Dwyer claimed damages because it was necessary for him to be towed out of a hole in the road at Seventh and Lincoln streets.

William Karrow, a member of the city electrical commission, reported receipts of $241.50 for the commission for the year and expenses of $109.45, leaving a balance of $232.05. The work of the commission was commended by the mayor.

Routine matters quickly settled by the council included allowing of bills, approval of minutes, and approval of the bond of City Treasurer C. A. Heckrodt, while widening of Pulaski street was referred to the street committee and planning commission for final disposal. The mayor and city clerk were authorized to give Peter Lingnolski a quit claim deed to the west 16 feet of lot 29, Block 10, Round's addition, on Manitowish street. Condemnation proceedings had been started in 1934 to obtain title to the rest of that block but were dropped when Lingnolski conveyed the title to the city.

SENSE OF SMELL

Now and then we may hear a person say, "It's as plain as the nose on your face!"

Surely there is a good deal in that saying! The nose is plain for all to see—except in the few places in the Orient where women still wear veils.

The size and shape of the nose differs a great deal in different persons. Some have long noses, others short or medium. An interesting fact is that a person's nose is actually as long as his ears.

The "bridge of the nose" is the bony part between the tip and the top.

Inside the nose are the "turbinate" bones. They are a somewhat twisted shape, and are lined with tissue which warms the air as it is breathed in. On a cold day, the air would chill the lungs if it were not warmed before it reached them.

When a person blows his nose, it is well to blow one nostril at a time. That one nostril should not be blown too hard. Otherwise the ears might be hurt. Air tubes, leading from the back of the mouth to the middle ear, open near the places where the air channels come down from the nose.

The most important work of the nose is for breathing. We must have air, and the only other way to get it to the lungs is through the mouth.

Regular mouth-breathing is not good. Air taken in through the mouth is not warmed so well, and is not strained. In the nostrils, we have small hairs which take dust out of the air, and which also guard against insects coming in with the breath.

The nose is also used for smelling. Each nostril has many branches of a nerve of smell. The branches are in the upper part of the nose; they pass upward, behind the eyes, and join to form the two nerves of smell which reach the brain.

Air breathed from the lungs passes through the lower part of the nose, and misses the branches of the nerves of smell. That is why yet we do not smell our own breath. When we breathe in, the air rises high in the nose, and the nerve-ends find out about the smell.

A person is likely to smell a single drop of strong perfume when he comes into a room. Some women who use strong perfume do not make themselves "charming" by doing so.

On the other hand, a soft and pleasant odor, such as the scent of roses, appears to help make people cheerful.

Capital Deluged With Propaganda On Issue of War

Effect Is Embarrassing
Conduct of Foreign Policy, Lawrence Says

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — For several weeks now, official Washington has been deluged with an anti-war propaganda of the most insidious sort, calculated on the surface, to keep America out of war, but having the effect of embarrassing the conduct of the foreign policy of the United States, if not the national defense of the American people.

Lawrence

The burden of the propaganda is that the United States entered the World war in 1917 for purely selfish reasons and merely to protect the "capitalistic" interests or commercial profiteers. The purpose of this sort of smokescreen is to tie the hands of the government of the United States so completely that it will be powerless to protect its lawful rights when war does break out. The assumption abroad that the American people are willing to buy peace at any price and that they absorb war so much that they will allow their territory to be attacked without resistance is a result that could easily flow from a constant repetition of the idea that only "capitalistic interests drag a nation into war."

The greatest injustice being done by this propaganda to the memory of the members of congress who voted for war in 1917, and to President Wilson, who reluctantly led the nation into war. Many members of congress are still in office who voted for the war declaration, but anybody who wants to know the truth need only consult the congressional record in the debate which preceded our entry into the war.

German Declaration
This correspondent was in Washington throughout the period preceding the entry of the United States into the war in April, 1917, and had an opportunity to examine at close hand all the documents which at the time related to the war issue. The American government tried to keep out of the war and would have succeeded in so doing but for the declaration by the German government on Feb. 1, 1917, that any ship, of whatsoever nationality, found in a zone 100 miles at sea from the British coast would be torpedoed by submarines without warning. This meant not merely, as has been contended here of late, ships carrying munitions to countries at war, but any passenger vessel or merchant ship, whether bound to Norway, Sweden, Denmark or any other country not at war.

The basic principle confronting President Wilson was whether he would surrender the right of the United States to travel the seas in peaceful commerce—an issue on which the United States had fought the war of 1812 and on which, throughout all history, international law had clearly established neutral rights to be immune from attack when contraband or war supplies were not being transported.

If the American people are willing to surrender the above principle now, the meaning in terms of national defense becomes clear. It means that if, at any time, during a future world war, one or the other of the belligerent countries decides that the factories of the United States must stop manufacturing raw materials for transport overseas or the farmers must stop growing foodstuffs, the airplanes of such a belligerent nation would feel justified in coming over to attack American cities unless the United States agreed to accept dictation from a foreign government as to what should be grown or produced or transported. Maybe the American people are ready to surrender that much to foreign dictation, but if they are, it is contrary to what the American people said in 1917.

Final Vote
For many months, the American people hoped to avert war twenty-two years ago, and President Wilson labored in every way humanly possible to prevent American participation in that war. He declared war for any selfish reason is a label which anyone who watched the congressional debates carefully will refuse. For the final vote showed only a handful of persons voting against war.

It is true that, in this minority, were men like Senator Norris of Nebraska, for instance, who said to the senate that the declaration of war was putting the "dollar sign on the American flag," but his colleagues in the senate considered this an absurdity and did not put his opinion, as manifested in the church, the press, the educational institutions and the farms of the land. It is easy enough now, when viewing in retrospect America's tragic experience with the peace treaty, to condemn those who voted for the war declaration, but the facts as they existed at the time the action was taken do not bear out the propaganda to the effect that solely for selfish and selfish reasons, war was plunged into war.

Mr. Wilson's contention was that the proclamation by Germany of unrestricted warfare against any and all ships, no matter whether destined to belligerent or neutral ports was in fact a declaration of war against the United States, and the Wilson message to congress merely recognized the existence of a state of war begun by the imperial German government. Neutrality issues will be easier to understand, if the veil of the so-called "war propaganda" is lifted and the pressure to keep out of war is confined to the noble effort being made by many people throughout the United States to influence the American government by factual arguments to adopt a friendly course toward all nations which will make possible mediation for peace.

Heil Administration May Try To Finance Relief Aids With Funds of Highway Department

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—Reports that the Heil administration will propose to finance its biennial direct relief bill through the use of highway department funds raised by automobile taxes were practically confirmed in authoritative quarters today.

It appeared likely that the administration will recommend an appropriation of $4,000,000 to cover the expense of the state relief office and direct aids to communities and counties for the biennium.

That would be in contrast to the $5,000,000 minimum recommendation prepared by the state welfare department for Governor Heil at his original budget hearings in December, and the $5,500,000 which spokesmen for Wisconsin counties have argued will be necessary to subsidize those sections of the state where municipal governments are unable to bear the relief load unaided.

Would Enact Law

The diversion of highway funds would be done "legally," one spokesman for the administration carefully explained, by having the legislature enact a law permitting the action.

He referred, indirectly, to the charges made against previous administrations that they diverted highway balances for general state purposes without legislative authority.

It was pointed out that Heil will have a precedent to which he can point. Gov. A. G. Schofield in 1933 entered office under circumstances roughly similar to those which confronted Heil this year, in a period of expanding welfare costs and dwindling tax revenues.

The 1933 legislature, heavily dominated by Democrats, diverted $2,000,000 for relief for a specific enactment.

The diversion, if carried out, will mean sharply curtailed state highway bridge construction during the Heil biennium, for the $4,000,000 will take a large slice of the funds customarily available for that purpose.

Question Possibility

Some observers have even questioned the possibility of financing the relief program through the highway balance on account of the recent appropriation of $2,700,000 for aids to counties and municipalities in excess of those paid in past years.

Heil's advisers, however, have figured their estimates on the hope that the highway fund will collect $33,000,000 a year for their two years in office. In the past $32,000,000 has been high.

It has been explained that the state's construction fund, after all statutory allocations and appropriations are deducted from the annual revenue total, will be about $9,000,000. However, more than $5,000,000 will be needed to match some $4,000,000 in federal aids. The latter are not available unless the state contributes its share on a matching basis.

However, there is also a bridge fund of about $900,000, it has been pointed out.

Therefore, the administration feels that the balance will be enough to provide about $4,000,000 for direct relief during its term in office.

The LaFollette administration during the biennium now ending provided about $4,000,000 for direct relief.

Relief Increasing

The state public welfare department today reported a 1.5 per cent increase in the general relief load in March over the previous month, 55,813 cases compared with 54,982 in February.

Case loads for March, and the per cent of change for the counties in the Appleton area follow:

County	Load	Pct. Change
Brown	1,307	5.1
Calumet	120	13.1
Manitowoc	736	4.0
Outagamie	750	1.6
Shawano	407	8.2
Waupaca	550	2.0
Winnebago	1,175	3.3
The increase for the state was 8.4 per cent.

Relief Costs are Lower for Month

Bills of $794.61 are Allowed at Meeting of Waupaca Council

Waupaca — City relief bills for the last month dropped noticeably. Bills of $794.61 were read and allowed at the regular council meeting Tuesday evening. Transient relief totaled $293.05. Bills for administration and wood stumpage were for $86.07.

A letter from Peter Holst with his annual report was read by the city clerk. The report terminated his 24 years of service to the city as police justice, that office having been abolished to take effect May 1. A resolution introduced by Alderman Stanley Wetherbee directing the clerk to write a letter of appreciation for his services was passed unanimously.

The claim of A. J. Hancock of $123.35 for damages to his car, while he was delivering a telegram March 14, at the Brainerd bridge, west of the city, was denied. The committee believed that the city was responsible for the accident, especially in view of the fact that the roads were in bad shape at a time when it was impossible to make repairs.

A resolution was adopted directing that $577.40, representing 2 per cent of fire insurance paid in by the city of Waupaca and paid by the state treasurer to the city treasurer, be deposited for use by the fire department.

The following changes were made in the budget for the coming year: $100 to be taken from the contingent fund and placed in the salary fund; $130 from the contingent fund to the tax refund account; $200 from the contingent fund to the advertising fund for financing the tourist information bureau.

Hugh Griffith was appointed by Mayor I. B. Erickson as the official dog catcher, the position occupied by George Cartwright being first declared vacant. The appointment was confirmed.

Bicycle Ordinance Is Given Approval of Kimberly Board

Kimberly — A bicycle ordinance was adopted by the village board at its regular meeting Monday evening. President Lang asserted that registration of all bicycle owners must be made the week of May 15 and that anyone failing to register will be subject to a fine. A registration tag will be attached to the bicycle and if lost another one may be secured for a small fee.

The ordinance provides that all bicycles must be in safe mechanical condition; riders must travel in single file and may not carry passengers; they must keep hands on the handle bars at all time with the exception of giving signal; obey all stop and go and arterial signs, and at night the bicycle must be equipped with a light in front and back that is visible at least 500 feet.

A public hearing will be held June 5 to amend the zoning ordinance to place the area where the sewage treatment plant will be erected, including the dumping grounds, in an industrial district. The board will act on the amendment after the hearing.

A street naming and house numbering ordinance was adopted at Monday night's meeting. President Lang explained that the price of the house number with the holder will be 50 cents and that all residents will be notified when numbers are available at the village hall. He continued that all homes must be numbered. The erection of street posts and the naming of the streets is now in progress.

Adolph Courchane and Louis Thein were named on the playground commission, while others that filed application for the position were John Vanden Heuvel and Joseph Sandhofer.

Bills and claims amounting to $14,173 were allowed by the board. Miss Joyce Krueger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Krueger, a senior at the high school, received a citizenship award from the D. A. R. Friday when she attended a luncheon at the Hearthstone tea room, Appleton, where she was presented with a pilgrimage badge.

Miss Krueger has been active in extra-curricular activities during her four years of high school and as a senior she worked on the school paper staff and on the annual yearbook; participated in forensic contests and debates as well as in dramatics. She also plays a major part in the senior class play. Frank Caffery has been confined to St. Elizabeth hospital, Appleton, where he will submit to a major operation Wednesday.

Miss Ruth Mauthe entertained a number of friends at her home Sunday evening. Games and cards furnished the entertainment after which refreshments were served.

Five Scales Condemned By Sealer During Month

Five scales were condemned, five were condemned for repairs and thirty-four were adjusted by Joseph A. Hodgins, city sealer of weights and measures, during April. A total of $41 scales were checked during the month. Tryout tests numbered 219 of which 208 were found to be correct and 11 incorrect. One computing scale was

Mrs. Schmidtknecht Again Elected President of Junior Woman's Club

Clintonville—Mrs. E. Z. Schmidtknecht was reelected president of the Junior Woman's club Monday evening at the Finney library. Others chosen to office for the 1939-40 club year are Miss Dorothy Spearbraker, vice-president; Mrs. Roy Barker, recording secretary; Mrs. Erwin Pinkowsky, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. James Driesen, treasurer.

Dr. Mary Allen of Green Bay, who has charge of the sixth sanitary district of the Wisconsin Board of Health, talked to the club members on "Child Nutrition." She also showed a moving picture, "Judy's Diary," which portrayed a child's life from six months to eighteen months. The film was secured from the Bureau of Maternal and Child Health of Wisconsin. Dr. Allen was accompanied to Clintonville by Miss Estelle Jung, Waupaca county nurse.

As the opening feature of the program, there were several songs by Warren Snider and Cyril Downham, re-tested, eight computing scales were inspected and two complaints were investigated.

with the latter playing the guitar accompaniment.

This was the last regular meeting of the Junior Woman's club for the 1938-39 year. A banquet with the Clintonville Woman's club at Hotel Maroon on Monday evening, May 8, will conclude the season's activities.

 Witchcraft is disappearing from the Chaco, according to Rev. E. D.

Panther, American missionary in that region, who visited Buenos Aires, Argentina, recently. One of the last of the witch doctors professed his conversion to Christianity just before Reverend Panther left the Chaco, he said. The general health of the community has been better since the witch doctors quit, he added.

Baptist Union Has Annual Luncheon at Church at Waupaca

Waupaca — Members of the Baptist Union held their annual luncheon at the church at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The luncheon was followed by the yearly reports of the officers: Mrs. Walter Olson, president; Mrs. Ed Bender, vice president; Mrs. W. L. King, secretary, and Mrs. Olaf Skye, treasurer.

The group was divided into four circles during 1938, each group reporting as its net proceeds from benefits for the year as $40.50, $42.27 and $17, respectively. In addition $39 was raised at food sales. The missionary society of the Union reported $300 spent for missions, home and foreign, during the year.

Instead of the four groups, there will be but three for the coming year and leaders were elected for two of the three groups. Circle No. 1 was unable to elect its leader at the meeting Tuesday. The leader for Circle No. 2 will be Mrs. Loren Gmeiner and for Circle No. 3, Mrs. Sherman Salverson.

The church will hold its annual dinner Wednesday evening. Officers will be elected and reports of the officers and heads of departments for the year just passed will be read.

With the exception of a small mortgage on the parsonage, the church is entirely free from debt in all of its departments. The Rev. G. N. Doody is pastor.

Mrs. A. E. Woody was hostess to the Beatrice Auxiliary of the First Methodist church at her home Tuesday evening. Mrs. P. M. Olson was in charge of the lesson for the evening and also an assisting hostess.

The regular meeting of St. Agnes Guild of St. Mark's Episcopal church was held at the home of Mrs. Ted Christoph Tuesday afternoon. The meeting opened with a dessert lunch at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Alice Bliss, superintendent of the home department of the Methodist church has announced a social meeting in the parlors of the church at 2:30 Friday afternoon. The membership of the department has grown from eight three years ago to a present membership of fifty-five.

The Rev. Hugh Misdall will conduct a communion service during the devotional hour and a program which will follow includes the lesson study by Mrs. E. G. Gault, a Mother's day song by Mrs. Edna Johnson; vocal duet by Mrs. P. M. Olson and Mrs. M. C. Frihart; reading of Edgar Guest poems, Mrs. Lou Thomas; a solo by Mary Lee Deuel and a reading by Miss Lizze Nichols.

Birthdays during May will be observed by the hostesses, Mrs. Edmund Johnson and Mrs. Edna Stone, by seating the honored guests at a special table — a custom followed by the department for some months.

Beaver Dam Club to See Senior Library

The Library Club of Beaver Dam will inspect the Appleton High school library and study its administration Thursday afternoon, May 11. In a letter sent to Miss Ruth Mielke, high school librarian, Miss Louise Knack, president of the club, stated that the members of her organization believed the Appleton library to be the finest in the state. Each day teachers and administrators from schools throughout the state and from other states come to inspect the building. Stevens, Green Bay and Garden City, New York, have sent visitors recently.
